

C. S. CARNES INDICTED FOR EIGHTEENTH TIME

Newest True B.I. Charges Embezzlement of $12,622.63.

The eighteenth indictment against Clinton S. Carnes, former treasurer of the Baptist home mission board, was returned Tuesday by the Fulton grand jury. Tuesday's true bill charges Carnes, who is held in the tower in default of $150,000 bond, with having embezzled bonds valued at $12,622.63 from the board.

D. K. Paige, auditor from the firm of Ernst & Ernst, was the sole witness before the grand jury Tuesday. The indictment charges Carnes with having embezzled the following value bonds of the board: $5,000 International Railways of Central America; $4,000 North American Light & Power, and $4,000 Columbia Steel Corporation.

Carnes is also charged in the indictment with having sold the bonds for $12,600.88 for conversion to his own use. The indictment alleges that the embezzlement occurred on April 24, 1928. Carnes was arrested in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, and now faces indictments for embezzlement returned as follows: One on September 11, one on September 25, one on October 5, and 14 on October 14, as well as the true bill returned Tuesday.

BAPTISTS WILL ASK $953,000 ON NOVEMBER 11.

Armistice day, Sunday, November 11, has been designated as Baptist Honor day, at which time southern Baptists will be asked to contribute to the church $953,000 to make good the reported shortage of Clinton S. Carnes, former treasurer of the denomination's home mission board, it has been announced by the promotional committee of the Southern Baptist convention.

"Baptist honor is at stake," declared Dr. Arch Cree, acting executive secretary of the home mission board, in commenting upon the setting aside of the honor day. "Responsibility for meeting the calamitous situation no longer rests on the home mission board alone, but upon southern Baptists, as represented by the executive committee of the Southern Baptist convention which assumed the responsibility," Dr. Cree pointed out.

Stating that it is estimated that "there will ultimately be a recovery of perhaps $200,000" from the bonding company and the Carnes' estate, the promotional committee went on to say, "but it may take several years to work out the real estate involved."

Carnes, who now faces 18 indictments charging peculations from the home mission board totalling approximately $425,000 is now in jail, having been apprehended in Winnipeg, Canada, following his flight from here.

SHOT BY BROTHER, 4, INFANT IS NEAR DEATH

With chances for her recovery slight, physicians were working frantically over 19-month-old Sara Lee Burger Tuesday night at the Davis-Fischer sanitarium, where the child was rushed earlier in the day after she had been shot by a small caliber rifle, presumably by her brother while playing at the home of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Burger, 807 Rose circle.

The brother, Fred, four years old, is in a hysterical condition and is unable to give a version of the shooting. The two children were playing in the back bedroom of the home when Mrs. Burger, who was in front of the house, heard screams from the little girl. She rushed into the house and found the little boy holding the rifle.

The bullet entered the pit of little Sara Lee's stomach, and surgeons at the hospital Tuesday night still were debating whether an operation would be safe.

Dr. Burger, who hurried to the hospital from his downtown office, said that he could not conceive how the boy got hold of the gun.

"I had the old rifle stored away in a closet for much higher than little Fred's head," the physician said. "I cannot understand how he got it."

The little boy, realizing that he may have killed his sister, has been unable to discuss the affair.

Age Proves No Barrier to Merriment

More than 40 couples, each having been wedded 50 years and upward attended The Constitution's party for "True Lovers" Monday afternoon, being guests of the Howard at a theater party and of the Henry Grady hotel at a luncheon. Above is a photograph taken just after the luncheon had been completed, with an air of contentment and satisfaction on each face. Below are the winners of the first three prizes, reading from left to right: Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bailey, married 64 years and 11 months; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Owen, married nearly 64 years, and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Moss, married nearly 63 years.

PRESBYTERIANS NAME M'GIRT AS MODERATOR

Fort Valley Pastor Elected at First Session of Macon Meet.

Macon, Ga., October 23.—(AP)—Rev. James L. McGirt, pastor of the Fort Valley Presbyterian church, was elected moderator of the Macon presbytery at the opening services of the fall meeting at the East Macon Presbyterian church tonight.

Rev. C. A. Allen, pastor of the Tattall Square Presbyterian church, was selected to serve as clerk pro tem, filling the place of Rev. Richard Simpson, of Americus, who was unable to attend the presbytery on account of illness. He was the only member of the organization who failed to attend the opening service.

Rev. F. E. Manning, pastor of the Wayside Presbyterian church, was elected temporary clerk.

Rev. W. R. Mackay, retiring moderator, delivered the opening sermon of the meeting. His subject was "Achievements of the Gospel."

MILLEDGEVILLE PAPER PURCHASED BY WALLS

Milledgeville, Ga., October 23.—(Special).—Eddie Walls, editor and publisher of the Eatonton Messenger and the Gordon Reporter, both weekly newspapers, today purchased the remainder of the old plant of the Milledgeville News, a weekly newspaper formerly published here, and this week will commence publication of a new paper. It is understood that the new publication will not be issued under the name of the Milledgeville News but will be of another name. The first edition will appear this week.

Joe W. Lewa, well-known newspaper man of Sparta, will be associated with Mr. Walls in the publication of the new paper. The paper will be published at the Eatonton Messenger plant for a few weeks until additional equipment can be purchased and installed here.

Since discontinuance of publication of the old Milledgeville News, Milledgeville has had two live weekly newspapers, the Union Recorder, edited by H. B. Moore, and the Milledgeville Times, edited by Dunbar Hair. The Union Recorder is the oldest weekly newspaper in the state and the second oldest publication in the state. The Times was formerly edited by Mrs. Brown McCullar but was sold to Mrs. Mildred Wright Hair in March and has been edited by Dunbar Hair since that time.

SMALL AUDIENCE ATTENDS MEETING HELD FOR HOOVER

A Hoover rally was held in the Brookhaven school Tuesday night and before a group of 38 persons, including several children, Field Aiken, Atlanta lawyer, gave the principal address. Mr. Aiken's remarks were in praise of the republican nominee and a criticism of Governor Smith's record. The rally had been advertised for about a week.

RETURN OF PASTOR WILL BE SOUGHT BY ALLEN TEMPLE

The Allen temple A. M. E. church, this city, Rev. W. B. Clark, pastor, announced Tuesday that the claims of the conference have been raised and their pastor ready to report in full when conference meets.

Rev. Clark is held in high esteem by his congregation which will ask for his return to the church for another year.

Dr. J. H. McFarlin, presiding elder of the South Atlanta district, is being commended for work in his district this year.

HALLOWEEN BALL

Atlanta Club Plans for Gala Occasion.

Preparations for the Atlanta club Halloween dance to be held October 31 at the Georgia ball room of the Henry Grady hotel will be perfected today by the special committee in charge.

Miss Dorothy Richards is chairman of the committee and is assisted by Miss Peggy Oakburn, Mrs. Louise Sapp, Miss Anne Louise Coggin and Mrs. Annie Dickson.

Masks and costumes will be in evidence as the spirit of Halloween permeates the affair. Plans presage the most pretentious social function yet attempted by the women employees' organization of the city hall.

Cold Weather, Belated Visitor, Finally Arrives

Heavy rains which fell in Atlanta Monday night brought about a decided drop in temperature Tuesday, and made overcoats very popular. Starting at 61 degrees at 7 o'clock in the morning, the thermometer climbed only three degrees by noon and by 3 o'clock in the afternoon had dropped to 60. The maximum of 64 was the lowest of the month, the closest approach to it being 66 on October 2.

Even colder weather is predicted for today by C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local United States weather bureau, but no frost is in sight yet. Clear skies will prevail for the time of the society.

being, he stated. Temperatures today are expected to range from about 48 up to a figure slightly below the maximum Tuesday.

That this cold snap is very belated is shown by the figures of the weather bureau which disclose the fact that through October 20, the daily temperature averaged 5 degrees a day above the normal figures.

NEW CATHOLIC CLUB WILL OPEN TONIGHT

With a mass meeting and reception, followed by a dance, the new Columbian club, at 1200 Peachtree street, will be formally opened tonight. All Catholics and their friends are invited to this reception. There will be no charge.

The meeting will be in charge of Richard A. Magill, president of the Columbian Building association, who will preside and introduce speakers to present the plan under which the club will be operated. J. J. Haverly will give a keynote address, outlining the possibilities of this new Catholic community center as a focal point for social gatherings, charitable activities and other forms of constructive work.

The new Columbian building marks a notable addition to the clubs of the city. The entire second floor is given over to a large meeting hall which will be available to all organizations for meeting purposes or social functions. The building is beautifully furnished and has all the conveniences of a modern club, and a cordial invitation is extended to people of all denominations to visit the building and attend the reception tonight.

TRAFFIC STUDY CLUB

Bi-Monthly Meeting Will Be Held Tonight.

The Atlanta Traffic Study club will hold its bi-monthly meeting at the Chamber of Commerce hall No. 2 at 8 o'clock tonight. H. A. Manning, president of the club, announced that a two-reel moving picture of the Boston, Mass., terminal market would be shown by W. J. Fillingim, general southern freight agent of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. This film shows modern methods of handling fruits and vegetables in a city the size of Boston. The fishing smacks on their way to the fish banks off New England and their large catches also are shown.

MISSION CONFERENCE CONVENES AT WINDER

Winder, Ga., October 23.—(Special).—The eighty-first annual conference of the Georgia Christian Missionary society held its first session here tonight with hundreds of delegates in attendance. The conference will continue through Thursday night.

The opening meeting was held at the Winder Christian church, of which the Rev. John H. Wood is pastor. Presiding over the initial session was the Rev. C. R. Stauffer, of the First church, of Atlanta, president of the society.

Outstanding speakers scheduled on the program are the Revs. E. C. Lucas, G. S. Cuthrell, E. C. Lacey, Andrew P. Hensley, while the Rev. A. E. Cory is to deliver the principal conference address tomorrow.

Mrs. W. R. Lang, of Sandersville, is president of the Women's Missionary society, while the conference on woman's work is to be led by Mrs. C. E. Downey during the conference. The business of religious education to come before the sessions tomorrow or Thursday will be under the direction of Rev. B. B. Quick.

Three hundred delegates are expected to be in attendance before the conference closes Thursday night.

'ARMISTICE DAY' SET FOR MONDAY, NOV. 12

Governor's Proclamation Designates Day Following Calendar Date.

Since November 11, "Armistice day," falls on Sunday this year, Governor L. G. Hardman has set aside Monday, November 12, as a legal holiday to observe the anniversary of the cessation of hostilities in the world war. It was announced at the governor's office Tuesday. The governor issued a proclamation announcing that the state capital would be closed on this date, and calling on the citizens of Georgia to observe the day with fitting exercises.

The proclamation of the governor follows:

Whereas, on November 11, 1918, the disastrous world war came to an end, and whereas, on that day, with the signing of the armistice, the nations of the civilized world lifted their heads to view the dawn of peace, and were permitted to return to their pursuit of happiness, and whereas, the anniversary of that day, which now approaches, falls on Sunday, therefore, I, L. G. Hardman, governor of the state of Georgia, do hereby proclaim and set apart Monday, November 12, as Armistice day, as a day of fasting and prayer and as a legal holiday in Georgia.

I earnestly urge every citizen of our state, as well as all civic and patriotic organizations, to devote their efforts and time to the proper observance of this day, and further urge that everyone participate in silent prayer for 2 minutes at 11 o'clock and for an expression of our gratitude to God for the reign of peace and as a tribute to the brave and heroic American soldiers who died fighting for America and the cause of liberty and freedom.

It is ordered that the state capital and all offices therein be closed on November 12, 1925.

Done at the capital, in the city of Atlanta, under my hand and seal of the executive department, this the 24th day of October, 1925.

L. G. HARDMAN, Governor.

DELEGATES NAMED TO CHICAGO MEET BY TRAFFIC CLUB

Delegates from the Traffic club, of Atlanta, who will leave early next week to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Associated Traffic Clubs of America, to be held in Chicago, October 24 and 25, were announced Tuesday.

They are: H. G. King, M. M. Hankins, G. E. Bouillon, G. H. Rudolph and T. B. Curtis. A number of the delegates will take their families with them, it was stated.

Mr. Curtis, who is first vice president of the national organization, will leave with Mrs. Curtis Sunday night to attend the board of directors' meeting preceding the general convention.

ATLANTA MASONS TO HEAR ADDRESS BY BRITISH CONSUL

Sydney E. Kay, British consul, with headquarters in Atlanta, will address the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Masonic club at 12:30 o'clock today in the Wincoff hotel. Mr. Kay will speak on the "Island of Madeira."

Mr. Kay was British consul to the Portuguese possession for a number of years before coming to Atlanta.

Musical entertainment for the occasion will be provided by Dr. and Mrs. T. G. Fowler, Ford Clark and Julian Boehm are in charge of the program, while President B. C. Broyles will preside.

GEORGIA SCHOOL HEADS WILL MEET HERE NEXT MONTH

The meeting of the Association of Superintendents, an affiliated organization of the Georgia Educational association, which holds a session in Atlanta every fall, is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, December 7 and 8. A typographical error printed Monday indicated that the meeting would be held this week-end.

One of the most important programs ever arranged by the association is slated for the session in December. T. J. Lance is president of the association.

COUNCIL MEMBERS PLAN EXPEDITION OF SCHOOL WORK

Members of city council will take official action at a special called session at 3 o'clock this afternoon to expedite completion of the school contracts of the Joe W. Stout company.

Work was suspended on the projects several days ago, and the National Surety company, having concern for the Stout firm, has asked that it be permitted to enter into a contract to complete the work, suspended because of financial difficulties in which the Stout organization was involved.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale issued the call for the special council session Tuesday afternoon.

DEANS WILL CASE COMES UP AGAIN IN FULTON COURT

The third trial of the Deans will case, now in progress in Judge E. E. Pomeroy's division of Fulton superior court, will be completed within the next few days, it was said Tuesday at the courthouse.

The hearing before Judge Pomeroy is the result of the decision of the state court of appeals in granting a new trial.

The will of R. E. Deans, who died January 9, 1925, was presented for probate on January 12, 1925, by W. O. Deans, a brother, who was named as executor. The will named as heirs the mother, brothers and sisters of the deceased. Frank Deans, son of R. E. Deans, filed a caveat.

The estate is valued at approximately $50,000. Frank Deans is a student at Yale and lives in Detroit.

The first trial, a superior court case, resulted in a mistrial, and the second hearing brought a jury verdict sustaining the will.

HARRY GULLEDGE BACK FROM EAST FOR VISIT HOME

Harry Howard Gullledge, formerly of Griffin, and recently returned from the Orient, is visiting friends in Atlanta, after an absence of five years.

Since 1923 Mr. Gullledge's life has been spent in the Philippines, China, India and other foreign countries. His early experience came when he was made third assistant aide to Governor-General Leonard Wood, of the Philippine scouts. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gullledge, of Griffin, and was a student at Mercer university, Macon.

HARRIS SPEAKS

Enthusiastic Winder Audience Hears Senator.

Winder, Ga., October 23.—William J. Harris, senior senator from Georgia, spoke at the courthouse in Winder Monday. By agreement, Judge W. W. Stark adjourned his court as a matter of courtesy and convenience to Senator Harris, giving him a longer time to speak.

Senator Harris was introduced by Richard B. Russell, Jr., representative-elect from this county and the present speaker of the lower house of the general assembly.

Senator Harris spoke for more than an hour, stating that he took occasion to come before the people of the state during intermissions of congress that he might talk to the people in a face-to-face way about his own senatorial record, give an account of his stewardship, tell where he has stood on important matters, and discuss the issues of the day as they have a bearing upon future legislation, and point out important measures for which he stands.

He discussed the difficulties of making much progress in measures that affect the south under any republican administration, and discussed the last eight years as compared with the democratic administration under Woodrow Wilson. He did not urge his hearers to vote either way in the coming election, but pointed out to them numbers of reasons why they should support the democratic nominee. He said that the south need not expect anything from the republican party, that they had never received anything from this party, and that if the republican party is returned to power the south would be where it had always been under the reign of this party.

His speech was well received by an appreciative audience, in which were a number of ladies. He left here for Watkinsville, in Oconee county, where he speaks Monday afternoon.

METHODISTS TO NAME TWO NEW EXECUTIVES

Meeting November 7 To Consider Filling Offices.

BY REV. J. O. J. TAYLOR.
(Written for the Associated Press.)
McRae, Ga., October 23.—(P)—Dr. Edmund F. Cook, president of the board of missions of the South Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, has called the first meeting of the board at St. Luke's church in Columbus, on November 7, the year preceding the opening of the regular sessions of the annual conference.

Among the items to be considered will be the election of two officers, who by virtue of their offices become members of the executive committee of the board. The vice president, Rev. J. C. G. Brooks, was appointed last year to the presiding eldership of the McRae district, and automatically left the board of missions, and Rev. A. H. Robinson, secretary of the board, has been transferred from this conference to the West Virginia conference. These two offices will, in all probability, be filled at the first session of the board.

The board now consists of the following members: Dr. Ed. F. Cook, Rev. T. H. Thompson, Rev. J. S. Sharp, Rev. H. C. Jones, Rev. C. A. Jackson, Rev. J. H. House, Rev. O. R. Chester, Rev. J. O. J. Taylor, A. Kaling, C. H. Brooks, R. L. Greer, J. D. Peacock, R. P. Durden, W. H. Watson, J. L. Bennett, C. S. Hodges, M. M. Haygood, E. J. Vickers, and E. P. Pennington, Jr., Rogers, Mrs. H. W. Pittman and Rev. W. H. Budd.

Among other items which will receive the attention of the board of missions will be plans for the missionary maintenance campaign which will be put on in January and February. This is a plan made by the general conference of the church, by which two months are given to cultivation and the holding of missionary rallies, followed by a free will offering for the maintenance of the missionary work of the church.

The special missionary offerings of the South Georgia Conference for this fund last year reached about $50,000, in addition to the regular assessments which are known through the conference as the "conference claims."

Other matters for discussion will be, also, the industrial program of the Southern Methodist church within the conference. Special attention is being given to this type of work in our entire connection. The plans and work being carried out by the Rev. J. S. Sharp in the Hamp Stevens Memorial church in Columbus, are being studied with interest by the entire church.

It is probable that the conference body will be invited to see this church and its work, while the sessions are being held in Columbus.

Cooperation of the Sunday school board and the board of missions in the matter of the missionary educational program for the conference also will come up for consideration. It is understood that a "dual extension secretary" will be appointed at the coming session to be in charge of the missionary educational work done through the Sunday school.

Dr. Edmund F. Cook is president of the conference board.

EX-NEW ORLEANS PROHIBITION AGENT BEGINS TERM HERE

Michael Guillera, a former New Orleans prohibition "undercover" agent, who was sentenced in the Crescent City on October 10 to serve a year and a day for the acceptance of a $20 bribe was one of four men brought to the federal prison in Atlanta Tuesday from New Orleans.

Guillera had 18 years' service with the government at the time of his arrest. He pleaded leniency on this ground but Federal Judge Borah refused to consider the case.

John C. Dickey and Ralph K. Cotton, of Philadelphia, sentenced to two years for transporting a stolen car in interstate commerce, and Leroy Conklin, convicted on a narcotic charge, were the other three defendants. United States Marshal Frank T. N. Patten brought the prisoners to the pen.

WALTER HENDRIX LAUDS EFFICIENCY OF COUNTY POLICE

Efficiency of the Fulton county policemen was lauded Tuesday by County Commissioner Walter C. Hendrix, chairman of the police committee, as he was formally presented to the force by Chief George Mathieson at the courthouse. Mr. Hendrix recently succeeded Edwin F. Johnson as commissioner. Mr. Johnson having resigned to become county tax receiver.

TECH NIGHT SCHOOL STUDENTS TO HOLD LUNCHEON FRIDAY

Georgia Tech evening school of commerce students Friday will have their first noon luncheon of the year. The luncheons, which are to be in the nature of class meetings, will be addressed by well known Atlanta business and professional men.

The school has furnished a kitchen and lunch room for the gatherings, with equipment to serve more than 100 at each meal. Music and dancing is programmed for the luncheons. Professor L. R. Seibert, of the law department, will be in charge of the Friday luncheon.

Democratic Campaigners To Cover State This Week

The state democratic campaign committee will put a flock of speakers to work during the week in various parts of the Georgia to work in behalf of the democratic national ticket, one of the chief speakers being United States Senator Walter F. George, it was announced Tuesday by John B. Slater, state campaign manager.

Senator George will open a series of speaking engagements at Swainsboro Wednesday. Among the other speakers who will take the field for engagements during the week are Judge Arthur G. Powell, of Atlanta; Congressman M. B. Tarver, of the seventh district; Pope Brock, Thomas J. Shackelford, Judge Newt Morris and Judge E. E. Cox.

From now until election day the state campaign will be waged aggressively in all parts of the state and numerous leaders are calling every day at headquarters and also writing letters offering their services in the campaign, it was announced.

Athens Council in Line

Two encouraging incidents were reported to headquarters Tuesday. One was the statement that the city council of Athens, in formal resolution, endorsed the candidacy of Governor Al Smith and Senator Joe T. Robinson and called on "every loyal democrat" of Athens to "render every possible service to bring success to the democratic party in this state in the general election."

Another incident reported was the organization of a woman's democratic league in Hall County, with Mrs. Joe E. Pottle as chairman. This league held its first meeting Tuesday and adopted resolutions urging all the democratic women of the state to rally to the support of the democratic ticket.

In announcing Senator George's Swainsboro appointment, state democratic headquarters issued a revised speaking itinerary for him, which is made necessary by the fact that the senator himself had made some engagements which were in conflict with bookings arranged by the speakers' bureau.

Other Speaking Dates

Other speaking dates for Wednesday and Thursday follow:
Congressman M. B. Tarver, Cartersville, October 24.
B. P. Gaillard, Blairsville, October 24.
Thomas J. Shackelford, Winder, October 24.
Pope Brock, McRae, October 24.
Thomas J. Shackelford, Lithonia, October 25, 7:30 p. m.

The OBOY BREAD

Slogan Prizes
Will Be Presented by Mayor Ragsdale Next Saturday!

Don't miss the chance to be among the 70 prize winners
There are $250.00
in cash prizes

The slogans are coming in. Have you sent any yet? Don't wait. Every time you think up an OBOY BREAD slogan send it in. Remember to send an OBOY BREAD wrapper with it.

What could you do with $250.00? $25.00? Or rather, what couldn't you do with it! And all that's needed to win is a good slogan not more than ten words long. Some of the best slogans ever written were created by people who had never written a slogan in their lives. It's not hard. Just try it.

Put it up to the family. Ask them how they'd like some extra money. Get them thinking about OBOY BREAD. Serve it to them at meals. Let them enjoy its delicious freshness. They'll find plenty to write slogans about. Save your wrappers, of course, so you can send in as many slogans as you want to send. One wrapper for each slogan. Read the rules.

OIL FIRM SEEKS CITY'S PERMISSION TO INSTALL TANKS

Councilman W. E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward and chairman of the Atlanta fire board, called a special session of the body for 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the mayor's office in order to give officials of the Southern Oil Stores, Inc., an opportunity to present their claims to establishment of two 20,000-gallon gasoline tanks on a Whitehall street site.

Council, at its last meeting, passed new ordinances preventing installation of tanks with a greater capacity than 2,700 gallons in the city fire limits. Company officials have asked that they be given an opportunity to present their claims to the committee despite the action of council.

What is VALUE, anyway? ... and upon what basis would the comparison apply to the purchase of clothes?

Clothing values are not always measured by intrinsic worth, or cost. Style is such a big factor; reputation or good-will is often regarded as such a tremendous asset that a manufacturer or merchant can just as well as not tack on a few extra dollars to the price, if he so desires.

It is our observation—after sixty years' experience as clothing merchants in Atlanta—that the practice of "tacking-on" a few dollars extra to the logical selling price is apt to become a habit, if it is not already.

We've stated the same thing before, but it will bear repeating—and we shall continue to impress the idea on our customers—there is a reasonable limit, both minimum and maximum, one should pay.

The evidence of it is best expressed by the range of suits and overcoats we are now showing; exquisite fabrics—superbly styled and tailored, at

Cash Is the Great Saver

You pay cash, but you will have to agree that you have saved money by doing so. Everybody likes to save—even though you are not gifted with the thrift habit, to save on one thing is to have another.

Philibosian Furniture—as it has been decided by all who have purchases—is quite "up to-possibly beyond expectations." But Philibosian's low prices are convincingly beyond expectations. We have been assured of this by everyone who purchases here.

But everyone has not experienced. If you are one who has not we would be more than pleased if you would come in and let us discuss your ideas about our prices. Such ideas fade out as soon as you begin your visits to this store—You will be glad you came.

If you are one who has thought our prices high, it is because you are not yet a Philibosian Customer.

Philibosian cash prices are much less than the usual prices asked for furniture of elegance.

Your first acquaintance with our price tags is convincing.

CURTIS SHUNS POLITICS IN SMITH'S HOME TOWN

Nominee Escorted by Governor's Police Bodyguard at Albany.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Albany, N. Y., October 23.—(AP)—Republicans had their day in Governor Smith's official home city here today with Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, as the attraction at a party rally and luncheon.

The senator spoke briefly at both occasions, but explained that it was a rule of his not to wage a campaign in an opponent's home town and he therefore refrained from a discussion of issues. He did predict an "overwhelming" republican victory in November in his talk at the rally and his appearance and prediction brought noisy cheers from the crowd which filled the Odd Fellows hall to overflowing.

Albany police, who for years have marched beside Governor Smith on his departures and entries, found themselves escorting a republican candidate today and their friends along the route passed out some good natured bantering to the courteous officers.

Governor Smith was at home today, packing for his final campaign drive in the east, but the two candidates did not meet. The governor's official bodyguard was at the station upon the arrival of Senator Curtis and took care of police arrangements for his visit.

Eight Prisoners Use Bar of Iron To Escape Jail

Thomasville, Ga., October 23.—(Special.)—Using a piece of iron bar, eight prisoners dug their way out of the Thomas county jail here and escaped Saturday. It was revealed by jail officials Tuesday. None of the eight had been recaptured late Tuesday night.

Knowledge of the jail delivery was kept from the public until an inquiry evoked confirmation from sheriff's officials that the escape had been successful.

Four of those who escaped were held for "hobnobbing" and the others likewise were being held on minor charges. All were to have been tried at the term of Thomas county court now in session.

STATE SANITARIUM ELECTS OFFICERS AT REGULAR MEET

Milledgeville, Ga., October 23.—Business officers were elected by the trustees of the Georgia state sanitarium at their regular meeting here last week. The officers who were named to manage the institutional affairs for the next year are H. S. Jones, secretary; Mrs. H. S. Jones, superintendent of nurses; Homer Bivins, steward; Captain T. H. DeSauter, engineer; W. S. Jette, assistant engineer; F. C. Pennel, farm engineer; Arthur Farrell, storekeeper; Mrs. George Echols and Miss Leone Frederickson, dieticians; W. W. Stembridge, sanitary officer; Miss Cecil Humphrey, social worker; Dr. J. C. Alcock and Dr. George Green, dentists; Otto Conn, treasurer; George M. Sparks, publicity director; E. R. Hines, attorney; J. J. Wooten, apothecary, and Rev. F. H. Harding, chaplain.

The medical officers were elected last year for a period of two years and their election did not come up at this time.

MRS. WILLIAMS SEES VICTORY FOR HOOVER

W. C. T. U. Heads Raps "Brown Derby and Little Brown Jug."

Bainbridge, Ga., October 23.—(AP)—Declaring that on November 6 "we shall have buried the little brown derby in the grave of John Barley-corn side by side with the little brown jug, twin emblems of a day that shall never come again," Mrs. Marvin Williams, addressing the opening session of the state convention of the W. C. T. U. tonight, attacked the political leadership in Georgia and defended herself and her organization for the stand taken in the current presidential campaign.

Mrs. Williams, who is state president of the W. C. T. U., declared that her organization had just closed "the most momentous year in its history" and reviewed efforts made prior to the democratic national convention in Houston for a "dry" delegation for this state, which she said was named. But Tammany, she said, "had cradled secured control of the machinery and a wet candidate was named."

"And yet we are called 'traitors' because we refuse to follow such a leader," she said. "Imagine the white and holy banner of the W. C. T. U. marching in the procession behind the wet governor of New York with the black banner of liquor on which is inscribed the slogan, 'Prohibition is a damnable affliction' in his hands."

"I am followed by Tammany Hall and its horde of 'wet' followers, both of high society and of the underworld. I would rather be shot than do it."

"Charges 'Dereit.'"
"The lineup makes the issue clear, and Christian people will not be deceived or misled by any of the numerous smoke-screens that have been thrown out to bedevil and confuse. One of these is the plea for party loyalty."

"We are Christians before we are democrats, and where a moral issue is concerned, principle must come before party. No political party should demand that its member vote against their conscientious convictions."
"It has been a sad, a tragic, a disheartening fact that in this crucial time of Georgia and the southland's distress, Georgia has not developed a single statesman among her national representatives, no one who like Senator Simmons of North Carolina, is standing true to principles, willing to lose their jobs for the sake of a moral cause. Just suppose our two United States senators and our 12 congressmen had announced in unison that they are representatives of a free state, that they themselves are persuaded that prohibition is right and thus thinking they could not support a wet candidate for the presidency. Can you imagine what would have happened in Georgia?"

"The people would have rallied around them, the state would have been spared this bitter campaign, Mr. Hoover would have been elected, and he is going to be anyway, but with the support of Georgia's leading men and during his administration Georgia's representatives would have received the utmost consideration at his hands. Georgia's statesmen would have received the admiration of the world and the soul of Georgia would have received its political freedom at the hands of its own political leaders."

"But, alas, the people have had to make the fight alone. And under the constant imputation of these leaders that they are disloyal..."

"Let us cast our vote on November 6 'in the fear of the Lord' and victory will be ours."
"This victory shall not be the mere triumph of an hour. We shall have triumphed beyond all cavil that 'it's in the constitution and it's there to stay.' We shall have buried the little brown derby in the grave of John Barley-corn, side by side with the little brown jug, twin emblems of a day that shall never come again; we shall have buried the black banner of liquor on which is inscribed the slogan, 'Prohibition is a damnable affliction' in his hands. We shall have written it so high in the sky of history that the long reach of time can never erase it. Southern women put principle above party regularly and were to the calculating politician who reckons on others."

CONFERENCE CALLED IN LOAN SHARK FIGHT

Representatives of 100 Firms To Meet With Junior Chamber.

Treasurers and personnel officers of 100 of the largest manufacturing concerns in Atlanta will meet in conference with members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at 6 o'clock Friday night to discuss the subject of "Illegal Collection Methods of Certain Loan Companies Operating in the City of Atlanta," officials of the Junior Chamber announced today.

Through its legal aid and anti-loan shark committee, the Junior Chamber is sponsoring a campaign against money lenders to discuss the subject of interest. The Friday conference is being held under auspices of the organization, with the objective of obtaining a "uniform policy" of interest. The Friday conference is being held under auspices of the organization, with the objective of obtaining a "uniform policy" of interest.

The Junior chamber in this connection calls attention to an article in the recent bulletin of the Southern Railway system. An excerpt from the bulletin reads as follows: "Repeated bulletins have been issued in the past, pointing out the fact that the company has no obligation to pay wages to employees who are not working."

While employees responsible for such bulletins did not discuss the subject of wages, the company's policy is that it is in no absolute rule that discipline shall follow every notice of an assignment of wages. Each case is judged on its merits. Whenever an employee has incurred an honest debt and is in trouble by reason of unjust demands by a money lender, he or she should resist those demands without fear of discipline, and may safely invoke the support and protection of the officers to whom he or she reports. The company assumes no obligation to pay wages to employees who are not working."

SUPREME KINGDOM INITIATES CLASS OF 150 MEMBERS

A class of 150 candidates was initiated into Premier Fortress of the Supreme Kingdom Tuesday night at the Fortress in the Southeastern Trust company building. This is the largest class yet admitted to the order and, it is said by officers, the largest to have been admitted by any fortress. Applications for membership were received from more than 50 friends and acquaintances of those candidates who were admitted Tuesday.

Premier Fortress membership is made up of persons representing all avenues of endeavor in Atlanta. A number of Supreme Kingdom members from other lodges in the state attended the ceremonies.

Proceeding the initiation a reception was held in the rooms of the fortress and following the rites a social was had at which the Premier Fortress quartet sang.

The Supreme Kingdom is a fraternal, benevolent and ritualistic organization, with a patriotic objective, the membership of which is open to men and women, 18 to 60 years of age.

A resolution commending the action of the federal radio commission's recent action in refusing to grant a license to the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, was adopted.

WANTED IN S. C. FOR KILLING MAN, GIVES UP IN N. O.

New Orleans, October 23.—(AP)—Indicted on a charge that he killed James Mollen in Hampton county, South Carolina, Henry Nicks, 28 years old, ran away from a police station today and told officers that he was wanted there, police have announced.

Police quoted Nicks as saying that a man was killed on a railroad track and then that he and four other men were indicted in connection with the death of the man.

After the indictment was returned police said Nicks told them that he left South Carolina.

South Carolina authorities have been notified.

SAFE DOOR BLOWN, BUT CASH CONTENTS ARE FOUND INTACT

Fault-hearted thieves or an extraordinarily good strong box saved the Atlanta Savings company more than $1,000 early Tuesday morning when the outer door to a safe was blown off but the inner door to the cash compartment was apparently untouched.

Employees studying the safe at opening time Tuesday morning reported that a charge of high explosive had torn the massive outer door completely from its hinges but that the lighter second door was still locked and intact.

CHINESE COOK SHOT IN TONG WAR

Minneapolis, Minn., October 23.—(AP)—Hugli W. Kay, 30, a Chinese cook, was shot to death last night by a man who escaped.

Kay, police learned, was a member of the League of Nations, who difficulties with members of the Hip Sing Tong were a few days ago were marked by slayings in Chicago and eastern cities. The slaying was believed to have some connection with the other Tong conflicts.

WITNESSES REFUSE TO GIVE POWER DATA

Washington, October 23.—An indefinite delay in the investigation of power utilities in the federal trade commission was threatened today by the refusal of officers of the Electric Bond and Share company, of New York, to give information about company expenditures as called for by the Walsh senate resolution.

Ralph B. Feagin, a vice president, and J. A. Smith, comptroller and assistant secretary, again declined to produce the operating expense ledgers of the company to testify concerning any payments made "to influence or control public opinion on account of electrical or public ownership of the means by which power is developed and distributed." Robert K. Healy, commission counsel, phoned some of his questions to serve witnesses in the language of the Walsh resolution, to be told without exception that answers were refused on advice of counsel.

John F. MacFarlane, country counsel, informed Commissioner McCulloch that this policy would be followed until it was judicially determined whether the company was required to submit the information sought. McCulloch and Healy said later that court proceedings would be definitely postponed until the company could be "as practicable" to obtain the desired testimony; and it was indicated that the factors involved would hamper the continuing of the inquiry.

Two witnesses are scheduled to appear tomorrow for testimony on minor aspects of the investigation, but no hearings have been definitely planned therefrom. Since the raising of legal questions by the Electric Bond and Share company, it was expected that difficulty would be encountered in securing testimony from witnesses until the case has been settled.

It was also said that the commission's staff would be kept so busy by the court case that progress into the financial phase of the investigation would be seriously handicapped.

Feagin and Smith, witnesses from the Electric Bond and Share company today included Benjamin H. Brewster, auditor; E. P. Summerson, secretary; S. J. Quinn, public relations director; and C. E. McBride and W. N. Lewis, accountants. Each refused testimony about the organization's business affairs, but did say that no contributions had been made by it to influence presidential or senatorial elections.

Healy asked Smith whether there was a payment in March, 1927, of $359,000 to S. Z. Mitchell, president of the company, which was charged to the general reserve account and if such a voucher had been issued, the purpose of the payment. Upon Smith's refusal to answer, Healy said, "well, guess you don't tell what it was for, it won't be our fault that it doesn't appear what it was for."

At various points in the hearing, the commission counsel put several of his associates in the inquiry on the stand for the introduction of matter received concerning the Electric Bond and Share company and data compiled from such matter. Among these papers were tabulations showing that the Electric Bond and Share Securities corporation owned the company, which in turn held large interests in such holding companies as the American Power and Light company, the National Power and Light company, the American Gas and Electric company and the Electric Power and Light corporation. These concerns were shown in turn to control numerous individual utility companies extending throughout the country.

RUPTURE IS NOT A TEAR

NO BREAK TO HEAL

Some people have a mistaken idea that rupture is a tear. Rupture is not a tear, but purely a muscular weakness in the abdominal wall. Trusses merely brace these muscles, but do not strengthen them. On the contrary, the gouging of the ordinary truss pad often increases this weakness, because it tends to shut off blood circulation. STUART'S ADHESIF PLAPAPADS are entirely different—being mechanico-chemical applicators—made self-adhesive purposely to keep the muscle-tonic, called "Plapao" continuously applied to the affected parts, and to minimize danger of slipping and painful friction. No straps, buckles or springs attached. Soft as velvet—easy to apply— inexpensive.

Woods Searched by Police As Man Threatens Suicide

WRITES FRIENDS HE IS TIRED OF LIFE

Fulton county police Tuesday instituted a search of the woods at Almand Park for Marshall L. Love, 75, from whom two letters were received by friends stating that he was despondent, had given up all hope, and that "I am going to the woods, you will find me in Almand Park." The search was of no avail up to a late hour Tuesday afternoon, and, as county police did not have the home address of Love, other than that he had a sister living in Carey Park, it could not be learned definitely whether or not the old man was missing. One of the letters was addressed to W. H. Longbeam, in care of Shearer's Machine shop, 219 Whitehall street. The other letter delivered to county police was addressed to "Dear W. C."

According to the letters in the hands of county police, Love is unable to work because "three doctors have pronounced my case incurable," and "I am so despondent I do not care to live." The letter addressed to "W. C." asked that he be given a pauper burial, and said that Love would not worry "W. C." and "C. E." at the office again.

County police were at a loss as to the exact significance of the letters, but several officers spent the afternoon in searching the vicinity of Almand park for the aged man.

TWO ARE INDICTED AS STORE BURGLARS

Wilks and White Charged With Entering, Robbing Groceries.

Six indictments charging burglary were returned Tuesday by the Fulton grand jury against Walter Wilks, while four of the true bills also named Tom White as a defendant.

Wilks and White are charged with twice robbing an Atlantic and Pacific Tom company store. The first burglary netted loot valued at $42.00, on August 22, and the second on September 14 looted valued at $165.84, according to the indictments.

The store of W. H. Dickens, at 726 Confederate avenue, was burglarized on October 13 by Wilks and White. The robbery netting goods valued at $150, the indictment charges. Wilks and White are also charged with burglarizing the store of the Rogers Jackson Street Grocery company and stealing $33.55.

Wilks is charged in other indictments with burglarizing the store of S. W. Hutton, at 336 Fair street, S. E., on September 12, and robbing the place of $52 in property and cash. Wilks is also charged with robbing the store of H. T. Sears, at 728 Confederate avenue, of $40 in property on August 1. Another indictment charges Wilks with the misdemeanor of carrying a pistol.

Both defendants are held in Fulton tower.

withdrew after opposition from Bishop Thomas F. Gailor, of Tennessee, and others.

"I am a democrat," the Tennessee prelate said, objecting to the amendment on the ground that it passed it would constitute campaign material for the republican party.

Bishop William T. Manning, of New York, countered with the statement that both parties were pledged to enforcement of the law, and said that if the house failed to pass the amendment it would place the church in a position of shying away from a moral issue.

He added that if the amendment were rejected it would furnish capital for organizations such as the Church Temperance society.

'POLITICAL PARSON' LOSES PASTORATE

Ft. Gaines Man Says Opposition to His Anti-Smithism Forced Resignation.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Harry Wright, chairman of the anti-Smith democratic party of Georgia, Tuesday made public a letter from the Rev. C. J. Broome saying he had "felt it best to resign the pastorate" of the Baptist church at Fort Gaines, Ga., because of opposition against him there growing out of his distribution of "anti-Tammany" circulars.

Under date of October 21, the minister wrote as follows:
"It may be possible that I can claim the honor of being the first minister to lose a job on account of opposing Al Smith. Sufficient opposition has developed here against me on account of sending out your anti-Tammany circulars that I have felt it best to resign from the pastorate of the Fort Gaines Baptist church."

Bitterness in Evidence.
The revelation of Tammany's attitude seems to have gotten a new dose of my dearest skin, and some bitterness is in evidence. I submitted my resignation today. I have never preached any sermon which could be construed as political, and at my political activities have been as an individual outside of the church. (One of my dearest made a very interesting article on life in present-day Russia were published not long ago in the magazine section of The Constitution.)

"I have no job in view and may have to resort to tent-making, as did Paul of old.
"As to the ballot form, it is indeed a cross-quit. But it will do no good in this county to send out any instruction about it—very little good, at least—for such things only make the local politicians more active, and they are completely in the saddle."

Family Will Suffer.
"On account of my family—seven of us all told—I am sorry I ever became entangled in this mess. If it were a matter of myself only, I would care not a whit. But being without means, I have to think of what my family will suffer. It seems the hint of Rasbok is being taken in some quarters."

"Well . . . that is that . . . I'm still going down the middle of the road."
"Very cordially."
(Signed) "C. J. BROOME."
Mr. Wright made the following comment on the letter:
"The letter speaks for itself. If the condition discussed by the Rev. Mr. Broome can be attributed to Tammany tactics in Georgia, as seems to be the case, then there can be but one conclusion. That conclusion is, that the people of Georgia will rebuke this spirit of intolerance and unfairness on November 6 by saying for once and for all that we will not deliver the democratic party to an American Tammany Hall, nor to politicians who seek to impose their selfishness on the free people of Georgia."

League Luncheon.
Mrs. E. J. Paxson, president of the Business Women's League of the Second Baptist church, will be hostess to members of the executive board of the league at a luncheon at 1 o'clock Saturday in the council chamber of Davison-Paxon company.

DARKIS FLOYD 120,
ATLANTA'S OLDEST CITIZEN, IS CALLED

Atlanta's oldest citizen is dead. Darkis Floyd, who, relatives declare, was 120 years old when she died last Wednesday, was buried Saturday at Chestnut Hill, according to records in the office of Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer.
The venerable negress lived at 882 McDonough road, and had been a resident of Atlanta for scores of years. Darkis saw the Sherman invasion. She was noted as a historian because she actually lived the things she related, according to reports.
Members of her family could not remember the date of her birth, but filled out the death certificate listing her age as 120.

RALLIES ARE PLANNED FOR FULTON, DEKALB

Prominent Speakers on Program

Luxury beyond your expectations

The Packard Custom Eight Club Sedan

PACKARD CUSTOM EIGHT

KNOWING all that Packard has previously provided in fine car transportation, the heightened luxury of the new Packard Custom Eight has amazed the motoring world.

The characteristic beauty of Packard lines is refined and enhanced in the new Custom Eight. Deeper, more luxurious cushions—richly upholstered and scientifically designed for divan-like comfort—are provided. The famous Packard Straight Eight power-plant, with its sturdy, nine-bearing crankshaft, has been further refined—made still more powerful, smooth and responsive. But such improvements were anticipated.

It is the new Packard Shock Absorbing System, built into the chassis and oiled daily by Packard's Instant Lubrication System, which has surprised the industry and the fine car public. This unique System makes the Packard Eight literally and without qualification the easiest riding car in the world—as well as the safest. It provides driving ease and riding comfort so new and exclusive that there is nothing with which to compare it. And it must be experienced to be appreciated.

When will you drive the Packard Custom Eight as our guest? We want you to know the thrill of Packard Straight Eight performance; to know riding and driving comfort beyond your highest expectations.

Ownership may be easily arranged. We will fairly appraise your present car and accept it as cash. If of average value it may make or exceed the down payment. The remainder, if you wish to purchase from income as so many do, can be apportioned in convenient monthly payments.

HOOPER IN NEW YORK.

In his New York address Mr. Hoover gave the republican party credit for every good thing that has developed in the United States since the 4th of March, 1921, including the rapid strides in the advancement of the arts and sciences.

According to the republican candidate, his party was responsible for the radio, for the progress in electrical engineering, for the progress in aviation, and even for the progress in the medical sciences, and in increased longevity.

The poor, misguided, befuddled and foolish democrats of this country have, according to reasonable deductions from his address, been incapable of doing anything, of making any personal or group progress, and of even keeping war and alive but for the republican administration under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, and the former secretary of commerce.

He did not denounce the record of fraud and corruption in his party—and that fact, coupled with the fulsome praise of republican administrations for seven and a half years, cannot be construed other than as condoning the Teapot Dome scandal, the alien property custodian scandal, the department of justice scandal, the Vane and Smith primary scandals and all of the others.

He did not tell his audience that the chairman of his party's national committee had only recently renewed the Sinclair oil reserve leases, which cannot be construed other than an indorsement of the Teapot Dome lease made by Albert B. Fall. And he also forgot to remark that the former chairman, Will Hays, met the deficit in the Harding campaign by donations from Sinclair after the Fall scandal had developed and while Hays was also a member of the cabinet as was Mr. Hoover.

Aside from these glaring omissions, and for giving credit to his own administration for all of the progress in the nation since the world war—forgetting to mention the fact that as food administrator he personally fixed a price on wheat below the cost of production, and but for President Wilson would also have bankrupted every cotton producer in the south—his address was notable for its direct antagonism to any practical farm relief legislation, for any change in the present prohibition enforcement force and carnival of corruption, and a direct slap at state rights, which is the touchstone of the democratic faith.

His address emphasized what has frequently been said by students of Mr. Hoover's private and public career, that he is primarily a czar and a dictator with his whole scheme of governmental administration being centralized, with the rights of the 48 units of the government stripped entirely from them.

It is very clear that it is his purpose, if elected, to not merely be a Mussolini, but to "out-Hamilton Hamilton."

WELCOME TO THE DAUGHTERS.

Atlanta extends a warm and cordial welcome to the members of the Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy who are in convention here.

The occasion has brought together many of the leading women of the state, and in addition to the business matters on the program a number of social functions have been arranged with Atlanta members acting as hostesses.

This patriotic organization was created in Atlanta in 1895, and since that time the annual conventions have been held in various cities of the state. It has returned home this year, and Atlanta appreciates the honor.

In addition to Georgia members a number of prominent women from other states—officials of the general organization—are in attendance.

The veterans of the Confederacy are rapidly passing. By the inevitable laws of nature there can be but few more reunions of the men who fought the south's cause. But the sons and the daughters will "carry on" and after them their sons and daughters will, as organized groups, keep "verdant" the memories of those who so valiantly served the cause that was lost.

There is no north nor south in this great nation today. The sectional lines have long since been obliterated. Since the war between the states the united young men of America have fought side by side in two wars, the latter the greatest in the history of the world. It is gratifying that it is a nation of unity and cooperation between all citizens of all sections. But the descendants of the brave men on both sides in the unfortunate struggle of the 60's will never forget the valor of the fathers, nor should they do so.

It is hoped that the remnants of the old blue and gray lines may hold a joint reunion before it is too late, and that sooner or later the sons and daughters of the Confederacy and the sons and daughters of the G. A. R. may assemble together in one great, happy gathering, and commemorate together the love of all Americans for the Stars and Stripes.

LAST FIFTY THE "SWEETEST."

How inspiring it is, in this day of new social and home licenses to find so many happily mated couples who have lived together in love and bliss more than half a century! They are here. They are everywhere. And what a golden age! The Constitution's "Two Lovers" party aroused anew the domestic consciences of thousands of couples—and why not? Why not let life's pathway be paved with the flowers of love and understanding, rather than with the thorns of discord and infidelity?

"The first fifty years are the hardest," said a wise one of the centuries, "but the second fifty years are a piece of cake." The new writer, or a proof-reader, said, "The second fifty years are the hardest." But that is not true. They are all the "sweetest" from the first to the end, if there is love—where there is love in the home there is fidelity, contentment, confidence—each sharing the other's trials and joys, and in such unity there is always peace.

DIRECTOR CALDWELL.

We rejoice with his multitude of friends at the promotion of W. F. Caldwell to the position of director of the southern division of the Associated Press. He has held for several years the position of news editor in this division, and had so demonstrated his ability, his accuracy and his dependability that upon the retirement—at his own request—of U. L. McCall, a splendid and capable official, Mr. Caldwell was made director by reason of his proven merit for such a promotion. The position demands not only all of the essentials of a trained news gatherer and writer, but of an executive. The southern division comprises eleven states. The Associated Press must be first, it must be reliable, it must be alert, it must be virile. It's great success as the outstanding news agency of the world, is linked with its staff.

The men and women who serve the Associated Press have been proven.

And so with the new director of this division. He had been thoroughly tested. He will measure up to the requirements 100 per cent.

TELEPHONE EXPANSIONS.

Developments in telephone services in the southeast will reach into the millions of dollars this year, possibly exceeding that of any year in telephone history.

More than $14,000,000, in addition to the immense sum already authorized, is to be spent on constructing new long distance facilities. This brings the total to be spent this year on long distance circuits over the country approximately to $50,000,000, as compared with $36,000,000 spent last year. The public has made this necessary by a steadily growing demand for long distance service. During the first half of this year an increase of 20 per cent over 1922 was noted.

The telephone industry by making it simple to talk to persons hundreds of thousands of miles away at small cost, has performed a great economic and social service.

You should expect a number of women voters to make alterations and exchanges.

At Smith might call upon the Smith brothers to cure the whispering campaign.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Messrs. Tunney and Wilder.

The last word about Gene Tunney, and his journey through France, was concerned, came from Al Lewis, who the hotel issued a list of arrivals in which were included: M. Gene Tunney, champion boxer du monde en toute categories; M. Thornton Wilder (manager). Now Mr. Tunney is in Rome, but dispatches make no mention of Mr. Wilder as being in the vicinity, which causes the Paris Times to remark that the Tunney-Wilder voyage appears to be one of the oddest of journeys. Champions have travelled with writers before, but has there ever been such a rare pair as Mr. Tunney and Mr. Wilder? It was originally suggested that Mr. Wilder intended to make a book of the things that Mr. Tunney said to him, or that Mr. Tunney would serve as a "ghost" for Mr. Wilder. Either is quite possible, or both. An even more interesting book would be one written by a third party, privileged to listen to both of them and to observe.

Contention of Railroads.

The railroads—and the principles involved in the case—are being applied to all railroads—are contending that their properties should be valued at their present cost of reproduction. Fought By Six States.

Six states bordering on the Great Lakes—Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York—are up in arms claiming that the diversion has lowered the water level in the Great Lakes, and that the commerce, navigation and other interests of these states, Illinois, backed by four states along the Mississippi—Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas—is defending the right to this diversion under a permit issued by the secretary of war as an act of navigation.

Public Utility Cases.

Closely related to this fundamental question of valuation is a series of public utility cases, brought before the court by several groups of citizens of interest to every municipality in the country. These all center about the question: "What is a contract not a contract?"

MARS RADIO MESSAGE PIQUES WORLD INTEREST

They replied to him by "shouting through the megaphone." "It's wonderful the way these things work out," said the man who claims to have held numerous conversations with a Martian woman, Oomarruru, who has a "sweet face and big ears."

The planet inhabitants eagerly awaited developments in connection with the message, Dr. Robinson said after the latest telegraphic communication with Oomarruru.

The test has caused a great deal of discussion in scientific circles, some favoring the idea, others protesting. Harry Price, director of the national laboratory for psychic research, was the latest to attack Robinson's claims. He said that the whole experiment was "utter humbug."

In March, 1923, Price continued, "Robinson's claims are not scientifically sound. He said that he had communicated with Mars. I told him then it was all bosh."

Price showed the United News column that the filled with alleged writings in the Martian language as received by a medium who uttered weird shrieks and horrid cries, and a strange, harsh, guttural sound, a Martian love song, the national anthem, and the alphabet also were alleged to have been received by the medium.

Price pointed out that the love song was more like cat-calling than anything else he knew about.

Important Cases Before Court

BY BASIL MANLY

Washington, October 23.—While the entire nation is stirred up over the election of a president and a few hundred congressmen and senators, the real government of the United States—the supreme court—is proceeding in its dignified and unexcited way to decide the cases that are before it.

In the forefront is New York, represented by Mayor "Jimmy" Walker and other counsel, fighting for the right to retain a five-cent fare on its subway and other rapid transit lines. Close behind is Philadelphia, with a similar five-cent fare case and Los Angeles with a contest involving substantially the same principle. Kentucky also has a gas case which comes in the same general class.

Every other city in the country is watching the outcome of these cases as they will determine largely the powers of municipalities to control their public utilities.

These cases also reach the American family pocketbook. They deal with dimes, nickels and pennies, but in the aggregate they affect hundreds of millions of dollars in rates and billions of property values.

The greatest contest between groups of states in American history, except that which led to the civil war, is before the supreme court for decision during this term. This is the so-called Chicago diversion case, which is to determine whether the city of Chicago has the right to divert quantities of water from Lake Michigan in order to solve her sanitation problems.

Six states bordering on the Great Lakes—Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York—are up in arms claiming that the diversion has lowered the water level in the Great Lakes, and that the commerce, navigation and other interests of these states, Illinois, backed by four states along the Mississippi—Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas—is defending the right to this diversion under a permit issued by the secretary of war as an act of navigation.

There is also an international aspect to the case because Canada has filed representations that this diversion seriously injures her interests.

The issue is so broad that the property interests involved on both sides are so enormous that without such a tribunal as the supreme court to decide the case it might easily result in open hostilities and reprisals between the contesting states. Many a war has been fought over matters of far less weight and consequence.

Another case involving a phase of a great commercial war is the Louis K. Liggett case. This is the first great case of the contest between the chain stores and the independent merchants. The small drug stores in Pennsylvania succeeded in securing a law prohibiting the operation of chain stores, and are now fighting additional retail drug stores. The alleged purpose of the act is to protect the public health but its obvious effect is to drive the small retailer out of business.

Thus while the heavens are rent with the shrieks of the politicians and the air is filled with the roar of the courts, the people are being driven to the wall by the economic warfare of the big business interests.

SMITH LEAVES TODAY FOR CRITICAL BATTLE

You can help me considerably by letting me get upstairs again. I am working on the Boston speech and I want to try to finish it today because we leave early in the morning."

Read Hoover Speech.

"Governor," asked a newspaper representative, "have you any comment on Mr. Hoover's speech?"

Answer—"No."

Question—"Do you hear it, governor?"

Answer—"No, I read it."

Question—"Are you going to reply to it in Boston?"

Answer—"I will give you a copy of the Boston speech before I make it."

Q. "Governor, were you not interested in that part of Mr. Hoover's speech where he said he wanted to keep the government from competing with private enterprise, and then listed among the three things which he wanted to keep the government away from, farm relief and prohibition?"

A. "And relief and prohibition? Yes, I don't know."

Q. "You will, though, won't you?"

A. "Have you been called a socialist before, governor?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "That ought to get you the socialist vote. It sounds very much like the Coolidge campaign of 1924." (No answer.)

Q. "Governor, you have nothing to suggest that would make interesting reading?"

A. "No, I do not know that I have anything to offer. Nothing has happened."

Q. "Are you going to see anybody today?"

A. "No."

A. "This was the sum total of information divulged from the democratic candidate's personal headquarters. His friends indicated he was considerably annoyed by the New York speech of his republican opponent, Herbert Hoover, who attributed socialist intentions to Smith's program for farm relief, prohibition and water."

The speech upon which Smith was "working upstairs" will contain full and studied answer to the charge, they said.

MRS. SMITH READY FOR FINAL TOUR.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Albany, N. Y., October 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Smith is ready to start on her tour with her democratic nominee husband on his final stump tour of the campaign, even though she has not entirely recovered from the bruises and scars of the last trip.

She admitted today for the first time that she was tired when the second trip was over and, for evidence, rolled up her sleeves, revealing a series of black and blue marks on her forearms that had resulted from the rough reception given her by the hundreds of women at the last formal reception given in Mrs. Smith's honor in Chicago.

"I really don't mind," she said. "But I really don't mind."

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

THE GOOD OLD SLUMBER TIME

The evils wrought by dance marathons are already beginning to manifest themselves. The papers carried an item the other day about a team that had gone through the dance marathon and now proposed to rearrange a full four-year college course along so-called marathon lines. The young persons planned to study about 19 hours a day, and sleep only four or five hours, sleeping 15 minutes out of every hour and studying the rest of the time, thus completing the entire course in one year or less.

Now there may be some sense in the notion that a normal young adult can get along on less than the customary eight hours of sleep, but it does seem to me that the scientific shams are taking an unconsciously long time to prove it.

The legend about Napoleon, Edison and other famous men who, one may believe if he likes, required only a few hours of sleep every night, is just a legend. Doubtless there were crises in Napoleon's life when he slept very little. It is easy to believe that Edison might stay with some important piece of experimental work even if he has to cut in on the regular sleep schedule.

But, shucks, every doctor who has ever engaged in practice knows how to get along on short sleep or no sleep at all. That is, a doctor can live on in spite of the loss of sleep as no evidence that the loss has not impaired his health or efficiency.

Infants from 2 to 6 months old require 16 hours sleep. Infants 6 months to 1 year old require 15 hours.

From 1 to 2 years, 14 hours. Two to 4 years, 13 hours. Four to 7 years, 12 hours. Children up to the age of 12 years require 11 hours.

Children from 12 to 16 need not more than 10 hours sleep. After 16, students or brain workers, 9 hours.

After 16, students or brain workers, require more sleep, 9 hours. Sedentary adults may do very well with 7-12 to 8 hours sleep.

Elderly folk, not physically active, require 7 hours or less. As a health investment it surely pays to have the most comfortable sleeping arrangements one can obtain. The room itself should be inviting, with the bed, of course, should attract and not repel the owner. It is a fine thing, when everything is going wrong or you are clean tired out and all sorts of things, to have a nest where you can hop in and in almost no time forget all your woes. Then if the bed is the right sort, everything will look so different in the morning.

One too common fault with sleeping gear is sagging at the middle like a blooming hammock. One should be careful to sleep on a hard surface, or a plank or in a Pullman bunk this may not be a serious drawback, but it is impossible for anyone who understands or appreciates the health value of comfort to sleep like a jackknife. See that your bed gives even support at all points if it gives at all under your weight.

The second fault with alleged accommodations in the bed chamber is heavy coverings. Blow yourself to deathers or downers for lightness, warmth, and you'll have less of that delightful nightmare in which a rhinoceros playfully rolls around on your chest.

When we consider that one spends perhaps 10 times as much time in bed as in his automobile, it is not curious that the padding and springs of the latter are the more carefully calculated to provide comfort.

G. B. MCUTCHEON, NOVELIST, PASSES

Chicago firm for $500. This was "Graustark." The book and the play adapted from it netted the publisher $250,000. McCutcheon once estimated. The first novel, which he wrote, entitled "Pootie's Gods," was resurrected and published as "Nedra."

The kingdom of Graustark then furnished the setting for several other of the author's best known novels, among them "Beverly of Graustark" and "The Prince of Graustark."

In a discussion of his works, Mr. McCutcheon once expressed the opinion that his best novel was "Beverly of Graustark."

Eldest of Four Children.

The author was born in Tippecanoe county, Indiana, July 28, 1866. George Barr was the eldest of four children. His brother, John T. McCutcheon, is a cartoonist on the Chicago Tribune. Another brother and a sister also survive.

Mr. McCutcheon attended Purdue for a brief period but left that institution to begin work on the newspaper at Greentown, Ind.

He married Marie Van Antwerp Fay in 1904. They had no children. After the success of his Graustark stories, McCutcheon had a wide reputation for his sale of his later books, so he wrote "Brewster's Millions" and had it published under the name "Richard Greaves." The book was well received and it was not until after a large sale that the public learned that its author was Mr. McCutcheon.

Although some reviewers referred to his Graustark novels as "Senda stories," Mr. McCutcheon himself had never read "The Prisoner of Zenda" when he wrote "Graustark."

He expressed the belief that the works of Robert Louis Stevenson had more influence on his writings than those of any other author.

Although many of his best novels were cast in European settings, Mr. McCutcheon, singularly enough, enjoyed only one short trip abroad during his life.

HOOPER HIT FARMS TO AD PROFITEERS

obligation, as Senator Borah for Mr. Hoover now pretends. The treasury did not think Mr. Hoover's unprecedented and totally imprudent arrangements, made without advising with the treasury, imposed any legal or moral obligations upon the government, but it distinctly took the position that "where legal or moral commitments exist to producers, they should be met by direct appropriation from the treasury."

Hoover in his New York address last night had by his position on hydroelectric power repudiated all the progressives who have supported him in the past.

Senator Norris is in Washington urging reelection of Senator C. C. Dill, democrat.

Mr. Hoover made himself clearer on the power issue than in any of his earlier speeches," Senator Norris said. He is repudiating Nye, Brookhart, Borah, myself and all the other progressives who have supported him in the past."

Men Will Quit War for the Same Reason They Quit Making Buggies

By Robert Quillen

As every evil has in itself the germ of its own destruction, so the greed that inspires war will eventually destroy it.

War is doomed; not because it is wicked; not because it has become more terrible; not because treaties pledge the nations to peace; but simply because it has become a losing business.

Righteous and compassionate men in all ages have condemned war without effect. The invention of new and more terrible weapons has resulted in the invention of new means of defense and has accomplished nothing more. Since history began, men have put their faith in treaties, but peace pledges have been worthless.

War would survive, despite its horrors and despite the good intentions of men, if it could be made to pay. But modern methods have made the investment greater than any possible return, and money—final arbiter of all foreign policies—frowns on war because it pays no dividends.

In the past, when there was no more than a raid to steal a neighbor's property. As national pride developed patriotism, war took on the color of romance and began to be a game for gentlemen; but its essential character did not change. In the beginning the goal was loot, and loot remained the goal.

Whip the enemy and make him pay. That remained the simple plan. Take his gold, his horses, his slaves, his land. Make the business pay. But as war became more expensive, the treasures of the vanquished fell short of paying the cost. It became necessary to demand an "indemnity"—a new form of loot, not collected and carted home in a day, but squeezed from taxpayers year after year.

And now the indemnity fails to save the wound. An indemnity large enough to make victory profitable would bankrupt the conquered nation—and thus destroy a market on which the victor must depend for his prosperity.

All of Germany's gold and treasures would not pay the cost of the last war. If all Germans, old and young, had been captured and sold into slavery at $500, still the victors would have been out of pocket.

It doesn't pay. Victory hurts no less than defeat. Those who take up the sword perish under the weight of taxes. Triumph is a form of suicide.

And so the men who hold the purse strings—the men who tell governments what they may do—are learning to think of patriotism as a plague. It costs too much. It makes business good, but it leaves a mortgage.

Agreed, the dominant motive in all national policy, mutters over its ledgers: "Let us have peace." (Copyright, 1923, for The Constitution) plained the enormity of the thing. Mr. Wilson issued an executive order ending the wretched business over the violent protest of Mr. Hoover. Every soldier in the better of those two men has been driven from the farms to the pens of the packers; so Mr. Hoover's extraordinary policy was not in the interests of the meat monopolists which Borah was then telling.

Starting his address with a denunciation of the republican party as the cause of the nation's ills, Senator Hoover for his indorsement of the last seven and a half years of republican administration. He then turned to the question of the Hoover food administration during and following the world war, virtually fixed the price of wheat below the cost of production, and the price of the American farmer.

Hoover Does Not Deny.

"I have been delegated or have himself assumed the task of disputing the charge made by certain farm organizations in the west that the Hoover food administration during and following the world war, virtually fixed the price of wheat below the cost of production, and the price of the American farmer."

"Mr. Hoover has not denied this personally, but Senator Borah has said that he has not. The proof presented to sustain the denial is not only inadequate, but positively unworthy of any frank person. It might temperately be called ridiculous."

Senator Glass said that he would have no cause for Mr. Hoover if he had assailed the country's food supply. He said that he had no cause for Mr. Hoover if he had assailed the country's food supply.

Treasury Cables Denied.

"There is one other aspect of this matter to which I will briefly refer," Senator Glass added. "Senator Borah for purely political purposes, appears to have been given access to the treasury cables, and he has been telling us that the cables show that Mellon was at pains to warn me to time ago are of a strictly confidential nature. To that I attach little value. The cables show that the west by disputing the revealed facts in the case, he renders himself a fair target for unparliamentary condemnation by farmers and consumer alike," the senator said.

The senator added that the real reason for the prompt reply to the president was not the wheat situation but the amazing business transactions of Mr. Hoover with respect to the packers of pork.

Senator Glass will go to his home in Lynchburg after leaving Richmond and will deliver an address there Friday night. On Saturday night he will speak at Greensboro, Monday he will speak in Chattanooga and Tuesday he will appear at Louisville. Other towns on his speaking tour include Galveston and Chicago.

NORRIS OUT FOR SMITH

Senator to Back Governor in Speech Saturday.

Omaha, Neb., October 2.—(AP)—Joseph Koutsky, chairman of the agricultural league of Nebraska, announced tonight that United States Senator George W. Norris would soon send "flatly and unqualifiedly" for Governor Alfred E. Smith for president in an address the senator will make in Omaha Saturday night.

Tacoma, Wash., October 23.—(AP)—Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, said here today that he would not support Governor Alfred E. Smith in his bid for the presidency.

Senator Norris is in Washington urging reelection of Senator C. C. Dill, democrat.

Mr. Hoover made himself clearer on the power issue than in any of his earlier speeches," Senator Norris said. He is repudiating Nye, Brookhart, Borah, myself and all the other progressives who have supported him in the past."

Swope Quits World Job

New York, October 23.—(AP)—Ralph E. Swope, managing editor of the Evening Post, has been named managing editor of the Morning World to succeed Herbert Bayard Swope, who asked to be relieved.

"In ten minutes after I had explained the situation, the 18th amendment is in the constitution. It is validly there. It will take the votes of 36 states to change it. No scientific definition of intoxicating liquor can be framed which will permit intoxicating liquors to be made and sold in this country contrary to the constitution. There is nothing within the limits of any possible valid definition which would satisfy the demands of the veto. That is the actual situation and no amount of talk will change it."

St. Joseph, Mo., October 23.—(AP)—The question in the coming election is whether Herbert Hoover or Alfred E. Smith will be the better qualified man to hold the presidential office, said Charles E. Hughes in an address tonight. It was the first of five speeches which the former secretary of state is to make on behalf of the republican ticket.

"We have a choice between two men," Mr. Hughes said. "It is not merely a question as between two parties. It is not merely a question as to what qualifications one or the other of these two men has, considered alone, or as compared with someone else. The primary question is, which one, for this highest office, is the better of these two men?"

Powerful Illini Appear To Be Headed for Another Title

Orange-Blue Coach Looks To Big Year

Illinois Faces Tough Games But Expects To Breeze Along on Top of Heap.

BY PAUL R. MICHELSON.
Chicago, October 23.—(P)—It isn't very broad and it seldom has been, but a triumphant smile has again wreathed the face of the "Flying Dutchman" Coach Robert Zuppke, of Illinois.

With a victory over Indiana and a comparatively easy schedule ahead except for Ohio State, arch nemesis of the Orange and Blue, "Zup" and his powerful eleven have started on what appears to be a straight march toward their second straight Big Ten football championship.

Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio State and Wisconsin remain as threats, but barring what would be the most unexpected upset of the conference season, the Illini should tie, at least, for top honors.

Zuppke's men have yet to meet Northwestern, Michigan and Chicago, all of which have been defeated, in addition to Ohio State, which is the last game on its schedule and at home. Either Minnesota or Iowa will be virtually eliminated when they clash at Iowa City, Wisconsin all but ruined its chances by tying with Purdue, while Ohio State must conquer Indiana, Iowa and Illinois, a monumental task for any eleven. Minnesota's great team has a tough schedule left—Iowa, Northwestern, Indiana and Wisconsin; Iowa has Minnesota, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Michigan; and Wisconsin's remaining conference schedule includes Michigan, Chicago, Iowa and Minnesota.

Prospects at Illinois brightened even more yesterday when Harry Richman, veteran center and one of the best defensive men in the conference, was declared scholastically eligible.

Northwestern, which invades Illinois Saturday, is attempting to manufacture a steering gear for its offensive. The Wildcats have gained 500 yards from scrimmage in its three games this season, but only three touchdowns resulted.

Realizing they are in for a strenuous battle Saturday, Minnesota and Iowa are working long hours in preparation. Coach Burt Ingwersen injected Oran Page, the sophomore back who scored four touchdowns against Ripon, into the first team's backfield during yesterday's secret practice and changed tackles. Michigan's Clarence Spears warred on his Gopher line and developed interference for his backfield. Spears was far from satisfied with the showing of his regulars against Chicago.

Coach Glen Thistlethwaite promised a drastic shakeup in his Wisconsin lineup for the Michigan invasion, having discovered several weaknesses in the Purdue game. Michigan's regulars were given a day of rest yesterday, while Coach Tad Wieman and Viewpoint.

VIEWPOINT is a strong thing, whether it concerns football color of clothes or whatever. The different reactions to the Tech-Notre Dame game of last Saturday are still being expressed directly and indirectly by critics of the fourth estate and otherwise.

Certain critics who themselves have expressed publicly and privately regarding the great Tornado line turn to plead consideration for the backfield aces. Others read the eulogies to the "Lines by Fincher" in The Constitution and other Sunday papers, then plead consideration for the lads of the line.

One of our latest accusers, a great sport follower and a fine gentleman, writes in protest of our policy. We hold forth for several lead paragraphs in our story Sunday about the great Tornado in general and the line in particular. Also invite "Wee Willie" Fincher to tell the heroics of the line in his own words in a signed story.

Perhaps we deal an injustice to speak of S. G. Dobbs, Jr., as an accuser. His letter is not in an accusing vein. Everything he says of Bill Fincher and his line is true, and more; but please, Mr. Dobbs, give us a little break. If you haven't already slipped the Sunday Constitution on the pantry shelf or used it for other purposes, read it over again.

Just because Sam Dobbs' letter is so gentle in its criticism and in that respect is so different from most of the fan letters we take the liberty of reproducing it herewith:

Atlanta, Georgia, October 22, 1928.

Mr. Dick Hawkins, Sporting Editor,

The Atlanta Constitution,

Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Mr. Hawkins:

I read with a great deal of interest your story in Sunday's paper of the Notre Dame-Tech game, and frankly found it quite disappointing in this degree: Bill Fincher was hardly mentioned, and, in my humble opinion, without Fincher and his line—Tech undoubtedly would have lost the game.

Please do not misunderstand me. I am not disparaging Coach Alex and the wonderful work that he is doing, but I do think that it behooves all of us that are so vitally interested to see to it that credit is given where credit is due.

Of course that game is history, but as I sit here in my office this morning I shudder to think what might have happened when Notre Dame was in the shadow of our goal if that line had not been the best line in this country, and it is my honest opinion that Bill Fincher made it.

Bill is an Atlanta boy—born and reared here. He played wonderful football for Tech High school and for Georgia Tech, and he stayed in Atlanta to help Tech build one good team after another. We should all be proud of him.

Let's give him a hand.

Yours sincerely,
S. C. DOBBS, Jr.

Fighting H. Yost issued a joint state: Coach Wilco refuses to depend on wide end runs and flashy forward passes to beat Indiana. Purdue learned considerable about forward passing from Wisconsin and started to throw up a defense against that attack, while Coach Stag gave his crippled Chicago eleven a short drill on blocking.

South Carolina Plays Clemson Thursday

Old Rivals Meet in Game That Will Put Blot on Record of One.

BY BRIAN BELL.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, October 23.—(P)—A football game to be played at noon Thursday—an odd hour and an odd day for football—will not create much excitement generally but means much to the state of South Carolina. The University of South Carolina and Clemson college will play their annual game at the South Carolina State Fair and the season will be made for one and ruined for the other, regardless of the schedule that is to come.

When the Gamecocks of South Carolina and Tigers of Clemson meet, past performances are "blown out" and anything can happen. Frequently it does. They have been rivals since the gay nineties, with a slight hiatus in the naughty naughts, following a riot in 1902.

Neither Defeated.
This year the state university and state agricultural and mechanical college meet without a defeat marring either's record. They also have new coaching systems, Clemson's a year ago under "Josh" Cody, but South Carolina under a brand-new engineer, Billy Laval.

Laval went to Carolina from Furman, where he coached for 15 years and made life more or less miserable for haughty Southern conference teams. Expected to win from the smaller Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association outfits, Laval never played college football, as Furman had no football team when he was a student there.

Coach Baseball Player.
The now widely known coach was a left-handed baseball pitcher as a small boy in Columbia, the star of a neighborhood team known as the "Elmwood Tigers." When the baseball season ended the "sluggers" took up football and appropriately enough retained their baseball name. From this athletic start Laval went on to become a professional and although he never reached the majors he won distinction in the fast minors.

He was the baseball coach at Furman university when football was re-instituted as an intercollegiate sport and took on the coaching responsibility for the eleven as well as in 1919, reaching back into his memory for the fundamentals he learned as quarterback on the Elmwood Sluggers and supplementing this knowledge with a few books on the game.

"Crazy Quilt" Shift.
Later he attended many coaching schools, but he was a good coach before he sat at the feet of the great in the summer sessions. When he moved from Furman to South Carolina he took his "crazy quilt" shift with him, an evolution defying description but evidently effective. His team has defeated Erskine, Chicago, Virginia, Maryland and Presbyterian college this season.

Josh Cody, the Clemson coach, became head of the Tiger staff last season after serving a term of enlistment as assistant to Dan McGugin at Vanderbilt. Cody was one of Vanderbilt's greatest tackles and his name is always mentioned in a discussion of all-Southern, all-time teams. During the war he paired with Schultz, of Washington and Lee, at the tackle positions on the Camp Jackson team, an outfit that was not scored on.

Feet Are Bad.
Cody was shocked when he came out of the officers' training camp to find that his feet, which had served him in good stead on a hundred football fields, were not quite good enough to stand the rigid requirements of line duty. He took such time as was available outside of football hours to get transferred to the motor transport corps and his friends thought that if the war had lasted a bit longer he would have reached the infantry.

Clemson goes into its big game with a record of not having been scored on, one of the few teams in the country to have gone this far and kept its goal line and uprights inviolate. The Tigers defeated Davidson, Auburn and North Carolina State by margins of single touchdowns and then ran wild to defeat Erskine college, 52 to 0. South Carolina, opening its season against Erskine, won by only 19 to 0.

Last year Clemson won, 21 to 0, and the year before South Carolina was the victor, 24 to 0, but neither score means anything at noon Thursday on the South Carolina fair grounds.

Head of Women Golfers Retires

Chicago, October 23.—(P)—Mrs. Robert M. Cutting, of Chicago, has retired as president of the Women's Western Golf association after two years of service, to give way to Mrs. Paul Walker, also of Chicago, who has been active in the organization for several years.

The annual meeting was to be held today and plans for the 1929 championship were up for discussion. Detroit appears to have won the tournament, plans for taking the event to California next year being virtually abandoned.

Mrs. Cutting's retirement breaks the family triumvirate which has led western golfing circles for a year. Her husband is president of the Western Golf association, while his father, Charles S. Cutting, is vice president of the Illinois Senior Golf association.

Sunday Football Players Arrested

Windsor, Ont., October 23.—(P)—Names of more than 100 persons who participated in Sunday football games throughout the county were in possession of the police today following a complaint made by the Rev. H. W. Prudham, of Amherstburg, against Sunday football playing in that town.

L. A. McHugh, acting crown attorney, said that unless admission was charged or disorderly conduct proved, he believed that there was nothing in the Lord's day act to bar the games.

The police view is that the ancient Lord's day act, which was passed by the legislature of upper Canada before confederation, specifically bars noisy games on Sunday. The matter will be referred to the attorney general.

Justinian Wins In Close Finish

New York, October 23.—(P)—In a hard driving finish, the Greentree stable's 2-year-old, Justinian beat out a good field to win the Hartsdale Stakes over the six-furlong distance at Empire City today. G. A. Cochran's Oesel made a good bid, taking second, with William Ziegler's Holiday third.

The race was worth $4,035 and the winner paid 12 to 5.
The $2,000 Blue Ridge handicap, a six-furlong event for all ages which was featured at Laurel, went to a long shot, J. E. Davis' Polish. Polish came from behind in the stretch to beat out Oh Susanna by three-fourths of a length. The Henton took third. The winner was held at $20.00 to win in the mutuels.
The victory of Captain Haney, paying $11.24 for a $2 mutuel ticket, provided the most interesting feature at Hawthorne although it was not in the best race. Captain Haney beat out Indra and Sphero, both held at better odds. The fifth race, the best on the card, went to Joy Ball in a close finish. Wacker Drive took second and Montanaro third.

Good Shepherd, owned by Moss Goldblatt, turned in the best race over a heavy track at Latonia to take the Miami Valley purse. Judge Murphy took second and Martinique third.

Injuries Take Heavy Toll Throughout Southern Conference

Two Jackets On Hospital List at Tech

Speer and Westbrook Are Injured Jackets; Boland Missing at Georgia.

The Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech disclosed injuries Tuesday for the first time this season, when it was announced that Joe Westbrook, regular guard, was suffering from a broken hand.

The veteran line man will probably be out of the lineup for at least two weeks. Frank Speer, first-string tackle, also may be unable to play against North Carolina Saturday because of an infected leg. Tech authorities said.

Meanwhile, over at the University of Georgia, Bulldog coaches were having to find a suitable substitute for Joe Boland, veteran center, who is expected to be out of play for a month because of injuries suffered in the Furman game.

"Iron Men" at Work.

Up the seaboard, Virginia Military Institute and Maryland are growing their "iron men" for Saturday's clash at Richmond. The same eleven men who played the full 60 minutes against the University of Virginia Saturday will in all probability start for the Cadets, while the Old Lineers have made but six substitutions in three games this season.

Washington and Lee's Generals are working overtime in preparation for their invasion of Knoxville, where they meet Tennessee's dangerous Vols. Leigh Williams, end, who was unable to take the field against West Virginia last Saturday because of a hurt, is expected to be in condition. The Generals are drilling on passes.

Virginia is yet doubtful as to how many of its cripples, eight in number, will be ready to start against Vanderbilt at Nashville Saturday. Coach Earle Neale is giving considerable attention to line weaknesses this week.

Secret workouts are being held at North Carolina State college, where the Wolfpack is preparing for an invasion into Florida to meet the Alligators.

Famous Trotter Abandons Track

New York, October 23.—Spencer, 1:50 3-4, joint holder of the world record for 3-year-old trotters, will join the ranks of progenitors next year at the Castleton farm, Lexington, Ky. The establishment is the property of his breeder and owner, David M. Look, of New York.

Spencer will be a companion in the stud to his sire, Lee Tide, 2:05, and Davster, 2:05.

The colt will leave one of the most brilliant trotting records behind him. Not only does he hold half a share in the 3-year-old championship but he ranks as the greatest money winning futurity star in history and is a winner of the trotting turfs two greatest colt classics, the $80,000 Hambletonian, and the $14,000 Kentucky futurity.

Spencer has the most desirable of blood lines, being a member of the famous Axworthy-Peter the Great family.

Czarevna Ties World Record

Hanover, Pa., October 23.—Czarevna, the Peter the Great colt, who was a futurity star back in the Grand Circuit days of 1908 and 1909, now is a joint holder of the world trotting record, more than 10 years old. When Ralph Dillon traveled the Hanover farm track here in 2:09 1-4 against time, Carevna tied Honey-moon II, owned by the Cleveland sportsman, P. W. Harvey, in being credited with the most trotters in the 2:10 list.

Czarevna is the property of the Hanover Shoe farm. Ralph Dillon, who is by Dillon Axworthy, the premier at the Hanover breeding establishment, was piloted by Dan Leary, Jr.

Tech Hi, Louisville Will Meet Saturday

Smithies Facing Hard Contest Against Strong Male High in Kentucky.

Coach Gabe Tolbert and his Smithies of Tech High are getting ready to go traveling. Next Saturday afternoon will find them up in Louisville, Ky., busily engaged with Male High school of that city.

Male high is a team to be feared any year, and this year is no exception. The Smithies, accordingly, are working hard and in all seriousness for this clash, in which a victory for the Atlanta eleven will mean so much.

Some Injuries.

A few of the Tech high lads are suffering from slight injuries, but none of them are so serious as to cause non-participation in next Saturday's scrap. The Male crew is looking good this year and will present a tough obstacle for the Smithies to overcome. They are confident, however, of winning.

While the Tech high squad prepares for its invasion of Kentucky, other local prep teams are getting ready for inter-city battles to take place during the week-end.

In the most exciting one, according to talk about the town, Boys' high

The SPORTLIGHT

GOLF.

Great Prince of games! Fair would your subject sing In sonnet's lambs you deserved praise; For you prolong his life and bless his days, You banish sorrow sweet relief to bring.

And balm administer for wound and sting That ambush life at all of its crossways. And, with their anguish often mortals craze: In healing art you are a kindly king.

When problems rise that fuddled minds perplex And darkness dims the vision's clearer sight, Your cheer doth oft disperse the clouds that vex, And place life's mysteries in better light.

The mind, the body and the temper all Are bettered as the golf drives the ball.

But when the golf club slices—aye, what, then? Or when it hooks or tops or doesn't click? What of the mind and soul and temper when? The golf ball sails out where the brush is thick? What of the deep desire to scourge and maim? The ancient Scot who first worked out the game?

OUR SERIOUS SIDELINERS.

Some time back reference was made to the appearance of a football star in any given section of the country gave that section an uplift far beyond the combined contributions of art, science and nature.

Football is quite a game, but it isn't nearly as important as some of its far from being important. And it is stars of any one section get any nation-wide publicity. It may be pleasant, but nothing more.

"The Battle of the Backs."

"Pam of Ohio, calls attention to the 'battle of the backs' on Saturday, when Ducky Swan, of Dayton, offers his stuff against Lloyd Brazil, of Detroit university. Swan is the best Brazilian football leader in the United States and is classed among the best. Brazil can step with any one.

Another noisy clash or crash will result when Bronko Nagurski, of Minnesota, moves out against Mayes Me-

Lean, the big Indiana fullback from Iowa. These two are rated as the star line plungers of the middle west, possibly of the entire gridiron range.

There also will be some eastern action when Cagle and Garvey, of the Army and Yale, meet in New Haven, Harvard and Dartmouth, become entangled at Cambridge.

French is the fastest back in the country, unless there is another who can do 9-4-5 rather consistently under proper timing.

The "Silver and Gold."

"I am not asking that you write even a single quatrain in praise of Idaho's 'Silver and Gold' (appropriate colors)," writes A. J. P., "and I am not even demanding that you pick more than four or five California, your all-American (incidentally Captain Burgher is a great end and Hutchinson a slashing fullback), but don't forget that Idaho is on the football map. Idaho last year played a 3-3 tie with St. Mary's, conquerors of Stanford, and licked Oregon State, 13 to 7. Southern California beat Oregon State, 13 to 12. Idaho finished her season tied with Stanford and Southern California, and if that doesn't put her in the very tough class, then I am a bob-tailed contralto to covote." Idaho qualifies. Here's to "the Silver and the Gold."

Coach Jones Favors Grid Scouting Plan

California Mentor Says Game Is Well Balanced Now and Change Would Injure It.

BY HOWARD JONES.

Football Coach University of Southern California.

(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance and The Constitution.)

There has been considerable discussion whether scouting should be eliminated as part of the football program of our colleges and universities.

My viewpoint is that the time has not yet come when there should be a rule to prevent scouting.

In the first place, it has become an integral part of the game, and I never think of it as anything but legitimate.

Scouting has been employed by virtually all universities and colleges for years. It is recognized by all competing universities. It is the rule of the game.

Scouts visiting opposing campuses receive tickets in the press box for games they desire to see.

Perhaps there have been times in the past when scouting was carried on to an unethical degree. I know of a case where a man representing a large university made himself at home on the field of a competing eleven where open practice was held.

As the school was in a large city, he was able to spend considerable time doing this kind of work. Such procedure deserves only condemnation, even though the practices were open to the public.

Things Accomplished.

Let me, at this point, state briefly what is accomplished in scouting. The scout is first of all expected to obtain information on the various formations of offense in use by the opposing eleven, and to get as much detail of the execution of play as he possibly can.

At the same time he is supposed to pick out the strong and weak points of another team's attack. He also attempts to learn as much as possible about the individual players. I oppose abolition of scouting because of the difficulty attached to non-scouting agreements were particularly strong rivalry exists.

Non-scouting could only be successful by gentlemen's agreements among head coaches, whereby they would pledge themselves not to receive any information whatsoever from anyone with reference to their opponents. There would also have to exist a general feeling among the close followers of each team that the breaking of such an agreement could only be considered extremely dishonest.

The difficulty of such agreements is that coaches of some eleven would have to become virtual hermits. It should be particularly difficult in the case of competing schools in close proximity. I am therefore inclined to believe that the time is not yet ripe for the general abolition of scouting, even though considerable good might result.

Non-Scouting Results.

There are many possible results from non-scouting. We will assume that the practice could not be established firmly, and discuss the likely outcome.

No doubt it would be extremely beneficial to offensive tactics. Strict adherence to a non-scouting rule would bring more touchdowns to the game, because it is easily apparent that a defensive team could not be taught to anticipate all the possibilities of offensive tactics.

Tech Varsity Begins Work For Saturday

North Carolina Plays Thrown Against Squad; One Man Injured.

BY HERB CLARK.

The Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech started to take their coming invasion of the Tarheel stronghold at Chapel Hill seriously Tuesday afternoon on their field at the Platts as they went through a stiff session in preparation for the battle.

Coach Fritz Martin sent one of his Grey Devil crews against a section of the varsity to give the big boys a look at the Carolina players in a dummy scrimmage. No tackles were attempted, but the first-stringers seemed to have a big edge on the Tarheels, stopping everything. Fritz's squad showed during their meeting. The pass defense looked especially good against the Tarheel heaves, a good portion of the attempts falling into the hands of the secondary, while very few were completed due to the efficient rushing done by the varsity line. Where the toss did not connect, the receiver was well-covered by the defensive backs.

The other section of the Grey Devil squad took the Tarheel offense, a real, honest-to-goodness offensive set-to. The sophomores, Dunlap and Lumpkin, were the shining lights of the mix-up here. Both showed off some nice gains through the Devil line. Izzy Schulman, the midwest speed demon, also took the oval for some yardage down the field. The injury bugaboo stuck its head up at Grant field yesterday when Joe Westbrook appeared on the lot with his hand in a cast as a result of a little clash which gave him a broken bone in the back of his hand. He probably will be able to take his place in the lineup at Chapel Hill, however. This is the only injury of any consequence existing at the Tech camp at present.

The practice this afternoon will be conducted along the same lines as that Tuesday, with another scrimmage against the Carolina squad. The attention of the Engineers' Thursday will probably see a very light workout, with the Jacket caravan moving northwards that evening.

3-YEAR-OLD NEAR RECORD AT LEXINGTON

Lexington, Ky., October 23.—Spencer, the great colt owned by David M. Look, of New York, made a valiant effort to beat the world 3-year-old trotting record of 1:59 3-4, which he jointly holds with McElroy, at a record meeting at the Grand Circuit track here and fell just half a second short when he completed a mile in 2:00. W. L. Loe, the New York reinsman who was driving Spencer to his Hambletonian and Kentucky futurity victories and to his mark of 1:59 3-4 against time, was in the sulky.

It is likely that Spencer will make another attempt to establish a new record if favorable weather continues. In another sparkling performance, Trusty Brewer, the roan son of Peter the Brewer, 2:02 1-2, owned by the Calumet farm of Lexington, Ky., driven by Ben F. White, became the fastest 2-year-old trotter of the year with a mile in 2:05 1-4.

Lee Tide, 2:05, the sire of Spencer, received credit for another 2:10 trotter when Leeward, piloted by James Snell, traveled in 2:09 1-2. Charles Hill, became the world champion pacing gelding when he traveled a mile in 1:58 3-4 against time at the Ft. Miami Grand Circuit track here. Sep Palin, the Indianapolis reinsman, was in the sulky. The old mark of 1:59 1-4 jointly held by Winnipeg, Frank Bogash, Jr., and Sir Rock.

Noted Race Horse Dies

Cambridge City, Ind., October 23.—The noted sire, Argot Hal, 2:04 3-4, pacing; 2:07 1-2, trotting, passed away at 10 o'clock last night at the home of his owner, Mr. J. H. Stuck, who was a member of the famous family of Hals, being by Brown Hal-Lady Wildflower, and sired many fast performers.

The Gentleman From Missouri Deplores the Custom of "Dating" at Football Games.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

A certain gentleman from Missouri has come forth with a new wall to be added to the din and hubbaloob surrounding football each fall.

C. L. Brewer is the man's name and he is athletic director at the University of Missouri. He is either destined to become a foremost co-eds of the nation.

Coebs, says Mr. Brewer, are the cause of a deplorable situation among the men students of the university. They insist upon being escorted to the games. The requisites of escorting call for the laying down on the line for tickets on the part of the escort.

In the eyes of Mr. Brewer, is terrible. Especially with half the lads at Missouri supporting themselves. Why, he wants to know, should the women, who probably have a larger allowance than the lads who take 'em to the game, pay their own way, sit by themselves and do their own cheering, if any.

Quiet Couples.

Because "dated" couples, in the words of the Missouri sage, add little to the cheering din at a football game, they should be banished to a certain. Few and far between are the scantily clad young women of this day and time who can quit watching the game, should the women, who probably have a larger allowance than the lads who take 'em to the game, pay their own way, sit by themselves and do their own cheering, if any.

Without any enting remarks as regards the Missouri gentleman goes on to say that in the old days sororities would go 100 per cent in their purchase of tickets and that now all the ticket salesmen gets is a "Really, I wouldn't be interested." Besides, who wants to buy a ticket and not have the pleasure of bragging about the date for the game with that "darling, dark-eyed girl U." And yet don't get it? Well, they don't go, which, says Mr. Brewer, shows a lack of institutional spirit, whatever that is.

So Mr. Brewer would let the girls buy their own tickets sit together and do their own cheering. It would alleviate a strain on the college boys' pocketbooks. But he wonders if it would bring much more noise than the buzz and hub-bub that arises when a group of women begin talking. Who wants to cheer, he asks, when the game when you can talk on that intriguing subject of what "I'm going to wear tonight."

Strib Pays $100 For Punching Nose

Pensacola, Fla., October 23.—(P)—W. L. "Young" Stribling, Macon, Ga., heavyweight, who has won 100 knockout victories in the squared circle to his credit, went down for the count in a legal battle in circuit court here.

The Georgia "Tech" was ordered to pay $100 for punching J. R. Smoker, Pensacola ringside fan.

Stribling charged the spectator had jered him after a fight.

Smoker brought a $5,000 action against the fighter, but when the case came up in court today, it was announced that a settlement of $100 had been agreed upon.

TIGERS MEET WILBERFORCE ON SATURDAY

The Tuskegee A. mni association in Atlanta and several hundred football admirers in Atlanta's colored population will journey down to Tuskegee Saturday to witness the "homecoming" game between the Tuskegee Tigers and the Wilberforce eleven.

This intersectional classic will draw one of the greatest crowds the colored gridiron has known, as the two teams will be representing the north and the south. Special trains are running from all parts and it is expected that the local association, which is very strong, will charter more than six coaches to transport the crowd from this city.

All visitors arriving in the Atlanta city Friday will be met by the Tuskegee band and school officials. Over 10,000 tickets have been reported sold and the greatest crowd thus far to witness a colored game in the south will be on hand to witness the classic.

Both teams are about evenly matched, giving the Tuskegee aggregation a slight advantage over the visitors, as the game will be played in Alumni bowl. The invading eleven are that of the big stadium, which seats 24,000, will be well filled Saturday.

Tickets for the game are on sale here at Yaw & Milton, Auburn avenue druggists.

Espinosa Resigns As Illinois Pro

Chicago, October 23.—(P)—Al Espinosa, runner-up in the recent national professional golfer's association championship, has resigned as professional at the Illinois Golf club, of Chicago, because of friction between himself and the club's management.

The former champion, who holds numerous sectional titles and who ranks among the nation's best golfers, refused to discuss the break other than to say "we both agreed to disagree."

His plans for the future are indefinite, he said, although he has received offers from two New York clubs.

Canadian Horse Beats Old Mark

Toledo, Ohio, October 23.—Winipec, the fast Canadian-bred side-wheeler owned by E. J. Baker, of St. Paul, Minn., by his latest triumph, paced a mile in 1:58 3-4 against time at the Ft. Miami Grand Circuit track here.

The entire reserve line held the Red Devils in check while they were running Tulane plays. Pete Herndon and Glenn Bradley were the nation's star satellites in snaring the Greenie plays. Rarely did the red-shirted men get past the line of scrimmage to make it necessary for a back to make a tackle.

Coach Mehre was encouraged by the showing of Tuesday, especially so after ten days of seeing his charges play a listless brand of football. If the present rate is held up the Tulane eleven will face a different team Saturday from that which eked out a win over the Purple Hurricane.

Buchanan Shifted.

As well as changing Hill from a halfback position to one at quarter, the Georgia mentor has shifted Jim Buchanan, 205-pound linesman, from left tackle to right, so that now the Bulldogs are fortified on the right by Lautzenhiser, Stelling and Buchanan and on the left by Frisbie and Bryant.

Dr. S. V. Sanford, faculty director of athletics, announced today that an account of recent rains the Tulane game could not be played on the field of the new stadium, but must be fought out on the old gridiron, where several hundred extra seats are being erected to accommodate the crowds which undoubtedly will flock to Athens for the homecoming game.

Urbain Left the International league race (which his club, the Braves, lost by one percentage point) to enter upon his duties as football coach of Canisius college, only to find nearly all of his stars on the injured list.

Tarheel Line Set To Repel Tech Attack

Vastly Improved Defense Will Be Flashed by North Carolina.

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 23.—(Special).—That the Tarheels will flash a vastly improved defense in their game with Georgia Tech in Kanan Memorial stadium here Saturday afternoon, was the opinion of observers at the university practice today.

There was no fault in the Tarheel attack in the Virginia Poly game last week, and today found the coaches and players progressing further in the fundamentals of defensive line play. At the same time the Carolina backs devoted the entire afternoon to a defense against aerial thrusts.

Shine Howard, regular tackle, returned to heavy today after three days on the infirmary list. The big 200-pounder suffered a severe blow on the head last Saturday and did not work out until today. Adkins, another big tackle, is in better shape this week than when he was hurt in the opening game, and he is likely to start with Howard on the tackles.

This will strengthen the flanks. The wet weather failed to slow up preparations for the Golden Tornado and Chuck Collins expressed a liking for the soft footing.

Scrimmage will be the diet tomorrow, with lighter work out Thursday and Friday.

Because of numerous requests received the game is to be played at 2:30 instead of 3 o'clock, as previously advertised, it was announced tonight by graduate manager Charles T. Wooley.

The change in time was made in order to enable those coming from a distance to get well on the way home before darkness. Announcement of the change was made today in letters sent to all in whose names reservations have been made.

More than ten thousand reserved seats have been sold, and the sale is picking up rapidly, but plenty of good seats will be available. Mail orders should be accompanied by $2.50 and 20 cents for registration and postage, it was stated. Indications are that the big stadium, which seats 24,000, will be well filled Saturday.

Tickets for the game are on sale here at Yaw & Milton, Auburn avenue druggists.

GEORGIA TEAM RECOVERS PEP IN SCRIMMAGE

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., October 23.—(Special). Ideal football weather this afternoon brought with it at least a temporary revival of the Georgia spirit. Coach Mehre's squad seemed inspired by the cool, crisp air and the showing of the Bulldogs was far superior to any seen since the Yale game over a week ago.

The disorganized play of the Furman game and the weak practice sessions of last week seemed forgotten when the Red and Black took the field for the first real workout in several days.

Both on offense and on defense the squad held the Red Devils for nearly an hour without yielding thirty yards, and ran amuck against the fresh team which was sent in to stop their maneuverings.

While only the reserve line took the field Tuesday, Coach Mehre has scheduled his first string lineup to battle the Red Devils of Coach Stegeman and the freshmen of Georgia Wednesday day and from the spirit displayed today the varsity will give as good an account of itself as did their under-studies.

Cook and Hill.

From the offensive standpoint, Buster Cook and Harvey Hill, were the heroes of the afternoon's struggle. Buster, because of his shifty running through the fresh line and around their ends, and Harvey, because of his excellent handling of any eleven in his first attempt and because of his uncanny accuracy in flipping passes into the hands of receivers at the required moment.

The entire reserve line held the Red Devils in check while they were running Tulane plays. Pete Herndon and Glenn Bradley were the nation's star satellites in snaring the Greenie plays. Rarely did the red-shirted men get past the line of scrimmage to make it necessary for a back to make a tackle.

Two Governors Will Watch Game

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 23.—(Special).—High officials of both Georgia and North Carolina will attend the Georgia Tech-North Carolina football game here Saturday.

Sitting with President Harry W. Chase in the guest box will be Governor Angus W. McLean, of North Carolina, and Governor L. G. Hardman, of Georgia; President L. M. Brittain, of Georgia Tech; North Carolina's next governor, Max Gardner, himself a famous Carolina football player in his day, and a number of other notables.

The big game will also usher in a gala social week-end for Chapel Hill.

Track Manager Sought by Police

Kansas City, October 23.—(P)—Police here received a request today from Rochester, N. Y., authorities asking the arrest of Hugh Springer, widely known race track manager. The message said he was wanted for trial in Monroe county, New York, on a grand larceny charge.

Springer, who operated the River-side track here, was believed to have left the city.

This will be the visitors' first appearance on a local grid, although they are unheralded and a rather unfamiliar team to fans of this section. It is expected that a good crowd will pass through the turnstiles at Spiller's Saturday afternoon.

Eastern Teams Work on Forward Passing for Major Games

Polo Teams In Twin Bill On Thursday

Fort Benning Riders Meet Two Local Outfits in First Double-Header.

Unless weather and wetness of the field prevents, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock two Fort Benning polo teams will cross mallets with the Horse Guards and Fort Mac polo teams at Fort McPherson in the first double-header being played between these three teams.

Fort Benning players will probably have to give the local teams a number of goals handicaps, but having just won a series from Fort Oglethorpe over the week-end with a single defeat they feel confident of overcoming this and taking both games from the local teams. Fort McPherson and Horse Guards riders, however, have expressed their intention of not letting this happen, so Thursday's games should be just as thrilling and full of excitement as any ever witnessed in the vicinity of Atlanta.

Carl Vreeman has offered to mold another trophy similar to the one won by the Horse Guards last Sunday afternoon for presentation to the Benning team scoring the greatest number of goals, and small statuettes representing typical English polo will be awarded the individual players of such team.

The second double-header will take place on Sunday, October 28, the first game starting at 2 p. m., will be between the Horse Guards and one of the Fort Benning teams, while the Fort Mac team will play the second game against another Fort Benning team.

Should the weather or sloppy condition of the field prevent play on Thursday the first double-header will take place on Friday.

We Suggest That Mr. Knute Rockne Advertise Some

South Bend, Ind., October 23.—(AP)—

"Wanted, a fullback—Knute Rockne." Blaming Notre Dame's defeat by Wisconsin and Georgia Tech on the absence of a crashing fullback who can gain two or three yards when a touchdown is in the offing, Coach Rockne has started anew his quest for someone to serve that purpose.

In yesterday's practice he tried no less than 15 men, but was not satisfied.

"We've got to get a scoring punch at fullback," Rockne has advised, "and unless we do we are apt to lose some more games. Twice at Georgia Tech we were hurled back within its 10-yard line."

Collins, who gave promise to filling the position, is out for the season with a fractured wrist.

Approximately 1,000 customers were at the arena when League's manager climbed through the ropes and announced his fighter would not go on unless guaranteed more money. The impression was that the San Antonio heavyweights had expected a larger gate and hence a bigger cut of the receipts.

Stribling was ready to fight and expressed regret at the situation. He knocked League out three years ago at San Antonio.

STIRBLING COMING DIRECT TO ATLANTA.

Stribling will not fight again before his match here October 30, Max Abelson, matchmaker for the Dixie Athletic club, stated Tuesday. Stribling will come direct to Atlanta from Dallas, where his scheduled fight against Jack League was called off when League refused to enter the ring.

Sid Terris, who will fight Stribling, is due to arrive Thursday and will work out before fight fans Friday.

Abelson stated Tuesday he had received word from Terris that the rangy fighter is determined to prove himself to Atlanta fans following reports that the Georgia boxing commission had conducted an investigation prior to passing favorably on his selection as Stribling's foe.

Terris is six feet three inches tall and weighs 190 pounds. He is recognized as a front-rank fighter.

After his fight here Stribling, Abelson stated, will go direct to New York for his fight next month with Jack Dorral.

Leaders Hope To Win by Air This Saturday

N. Y. U. Meets Colgate; Yale and Army Tangle; Penn Plays Navy Eleven.

New York, October 23.—(AP)—The east's major football college eleven, finding scoring becoming more difficult with each succeeding week, devoted most of their practice periods today to perfecting forward passing offensives.

New York university, recalling Colgate's stone wall defense of a year ago, has no hope of piercing the Maroon line this Saturday even with such ball-carriers as Strong and Follett.

Instead, Chick Meehan hopes to score through the air. He replaced Jinx O'Herin, varsity quarterback, with Archie Roberts in practice today. Roberts weighs about 25 pounds less than O'Herin, but is a superior passer.

Most of Head Coach Abell's difficulties at Colgate consisted of finding a varsity fullback.

Dartmouth, a forward-passing team already, devoted attention to that specialty in preparation for the Harvard battle, while the Crimson did likewise at Cambridge.

Rain at Yale.

Mal Stevens, at Yale, welcomed a rainy day, for it gave him a chance to instruct the Bulldogs in the extremely difficult art of handling a wet ball. Army, which meets Yale at New Haven next, was put through a strenuous drill although five regulars were absent because of injuries suffered in the Harvard battle.

The Princeton Tigers, hoping to stop Cornell's winning streak, scored twice on an "all-star" team consisting chiefly of the coaches. It took a long forward pass, Bennett to Jones, and a 60-yard dash by Jack Norman to turn the trick. Rain interfered with Dobie's practice at Ithaca, necessitating scheduling of a scrimmage for tomorrow.

Penn Is Favored.

While Navy preparations for the Pennsylvania game were held up by monthly examinations, the Red and Blue drilled under the glare of flood lights. The dope favors Penn to win by decisive margin, but Lou Young apparently is taking no chances.

Pitt held a scrimmage against the freshmen but Carnegie Tech, the Panthers' next foe, was satisfied with a dummy scrimmage. Three first-string men were on the injured list as Penn State began work for Syracuse.

There was no rest at Fordham, which faces Washington and Jefferson at the Polo Grounds Saturday. West Virginia and Lafayette had hard workouts for their battle at Easton.

Sports Done Brown

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.

While the Yankees rest up after the world's series a series of interesting rumors bob up concerning them.

One is that Babe Ruth's legs went back on him in the waning weeks of the season. That he is nearing the end of the road. That Huggins knows this. Take it for what it is worth.

Another is that once more Huggins has decided to make this his swan song. That he has crushed every manner of criticism hurled against him in the early days of his regime and then through the disastrous campaign of 1925 and feels that he can step out with a clear mind.

Put your own price on that rumor. And then when you get all through trying to get head or tail to them, just rest easy all winter in the thought that the Yankees will be with us again next year, to make things just about as uncomfortable as ever for seven other clubs in the American league—if not for another club in the National.

From all one gathers, the crying need among the Big Ten is that this season is more and better ends and guards.

Glenn Thistlethwaite, coach of the Wisconsin Badgers, the team that Notre Dame, and his staff, are faced with the problem of developing some new material for the wing and guard positions, and they are drawing some satisfaction in the thought that this paucity is chronic around the conference.

The shifting of Joe Kresky from fullback to guard as one of the first moves, indicates the importance Thistlethwaite places on strengthening the middle of his line. Kresky played fullback the last two campaigns. But his defensive work from behind the line—his ability to crash through interference and spill plays—earned the coaching fathers to move him to the guard position.

Jack Linden, reserve fullback last season, has also been shifted to the guard ranks, at least for a trial. In addition to these two "reformed" backfield men, Thistlethwaite also has three letter guards back—John Parks, Herman McKaskle and Gordon Connor. And they rank in about that order in ability.

In his efforts to develop more wing-men, Thistlethwaite has raided the ranks of the fullbacks once more. Louie Smith, who was tossed in at full part of the time last season, was shifted to the end of the line on the "A" squad. Art Mansfield, who made his rep as a fullback while in high school at Cleveland, Ohio, is also to be turned into an end, if he fits in.

In addition to these, Milt Gantenben and George Casey, two husky boys, are after the regular berths.

While the guard and end positions give Thistlethwaite his main worry, he and his jolly helpers are watching, with considerable interest, what appears due to become a merry battle between Larry Shoemaker, last year's center, and Chet Miller, a sophomore, for the half-passing job.

Wisconsin faces one of the hardest schedules in its history this season—no foolin'.

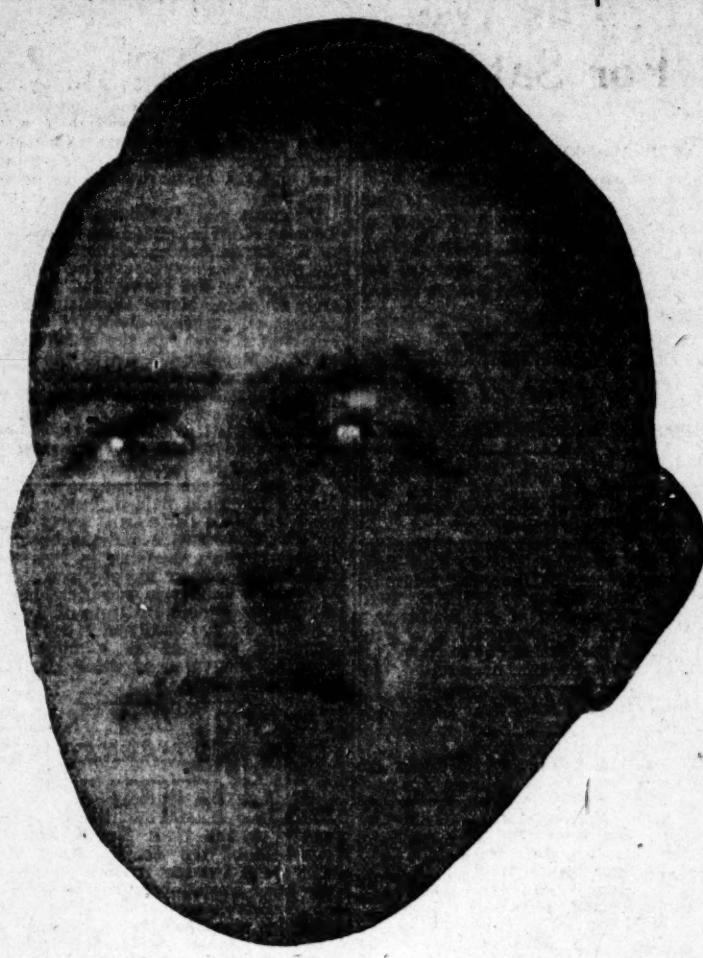

Consider this lineup for future home games:

Alabama—November 3.
Chicago—November 10.
Minnesota—November 24.

And on the road there are Michigan, Iowa and Purdue to face.

The team will go into these games, however, with much more brawn than it carried last year, as in Minnesota and the others. The 1927 team, which not a pony eleven, boasted few huskies. The regulars, at a guess, couldn't have averaged over five feet eight inches in height.

A Rough Customer

That is what Dick Davis, above, is, as everyone who has seen him in action knows. Rough Richard will meet Jim Browning, another tough person, in the main event of tonight's wrestling program at the city auditorium. They have met before and each time the match resulted in a real blood and thunder scrap.

Mat Program Tonight Promises Much Action

Davis and Browning Will Meet in Main Event—Abe Kaplan Will Referee Rough Match.

Dick Davis vs. Jim Browning; two hours; two falls.
Alan Eustace vs. Pete Sauer; one hour; one fall.
Archie Holton vs. Joe Miller; 30 minutes; one fall.
Referee—Abe Kaplan.

Few programs featuring wrestling have ever been set before the Atlanta public with more red-blooded appeal than the above list as arranged and promoted tonight at the city auditorium by John Contos, who has just launched his fourth winter campaign here, during which he promises greater battles than ever before.

He got away to a flying start about two weeks ago with George Kotsonaros and Charles Sondenberg at the head of an exciting card. Tonight he makes a second attempt, and it is beyond question that his bouts for this evening are far superior in every detail to those which drew a very sizable gallery at his opener.

Thrilling Matches.

The mere mention of the names Browning and Davis, to the Atlanta public, is enough to start an argument. Here, Atlanta's well remembered, the tense moments, the rough wrestling and the tremendous excitement almost every minute of their two other clashes here—one with boxing gloves, the other on the mat.

Davis' rough-and-ready tactics just about spelled the difference in each match, and he was returned victor on both occasions. Browning has never felt that he was at his best then, for his infant son was dangerously ill at the time.

Browning is nursing a grudge against Davis for the latter knocking out six of his teeth in a scrap at Nashville, and he always jumps at a chance to wreak vengeance upon the burly Californian.

Their two-hour struggle tonight very probably will be filled with raw excitement. Davis is a man who has never strictly adhered to the rules and he mimes no words about his intentions tonight.

Kaplan To Referee.

Promoter Contos very wisely signed Abe Kaplan, 200-pound Jewish heavyweight, to referee this event, since he believed the two rivals might prove a little too much for Bob Rube, a very capable official, but a man of rather small size.

The Sauer-Eustace engagement of an hour gives every promise of running the main bout a race for honors. Based on the compliments paid Eustace by Jack Curley and others who have seen him work, he will prove a match, perhaps more, for the husky Sauer, who formerly was the Masked Marvel.

Contos has a brace of welterweights to put on a snappy exhibition as an opener.

In an effort to attract a full house, Contos has lowered his prices, and has put up three prizes for the holders of lucky numbers tonight. This in addition to the free chances on each ticket for the feather fan he will give away the night of November 8, when stages his third card in the auditorium.

Woman Gc'fers Belgian To Fight In Second Round With Hudkins

New York, October 23.—(AP)—Rene De Vos, Belgian battler, who has whipped every head-liner in the middleweight division except the champion, Mickey Walker, and Ace Hudkins, was matched today to box 10 rounds with the Nebraska Wildcat in Madison Square Garden December 10. An effort will be made to match the winner and Walker for a title match here.

New Boxing Federation Considered

Canadians Withdraw From League as Result of Dispute Over Officers.

Formal Notice Is Received By Head

Baltimore, Md., October 23.—(AP)—The Canadian boxing federation today notified Latrobe Cogswell, secretary of the National Boxing association, of its withdrawal from that organization.

Mr. Cogswell today received the formal notification of withdrawal, which had been threatened at the annual meeting of the association held in Toronto last week.

Mr. Cogswell said that the Canadian body became incensed at the failure of the association to elect Thomas Murphy, head of the federation, as a vice president. Murphy, up to the time of the meeting last week, had been a vice president of the N. B. A.

New York, October 23.—(AP)—The opening wedge of a new alignment of the powers governing boxing throughout the United States and Canada was driven today in the rooms of the New York state athletic commission.

As an aftermath of the turmoil and charges of "steam-rolling" that followed the election of officers in the recent annual convention of the National Boxing association at Toronto, Thomas Murphy, deposed vice president of the N. B. A. and head of the Canadian boxing federation, opened negotiations with the local board for a working agreement with the dominion organization.

The possibility of an immediate agreement which would mean the withdrawal of the Canadian federation from the ranks of the N. B. A., controlling body in 26 states and several foreign countries, was prevented by the absence from the meeting of the local commission chairman, James A. Farley. Details of the new alliance will be worked out by mail.

New Federation.

The object of the Canadian federation appears to be the formation of a new boxing body to be known as the International Federation, with a line-up including New Jersey, Connecticut, Michigan, Kentucky, Rhode Island, Louisiana and other states that joined the insurgents in the recent N. B. A. meeting.

The controversy there centered around the election of almost a complete mid-western ticket, headed by Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic association, as president, and the refusal of the body to elect Murphy to the vice presidency because of a clause in the by-laws preventing delegates other than those from the United States from holding office. While the New York state commission so far has refused to join an organization it has entered in several working agreements but none with the N. B. A.

Heavyweight Shakeup.

A shakeup in the ranks of the heavyweights brought Johnny Risko and Knute Hansen back into action after indefinite suspensions and relegated Paulino Uzcudun to the inactive list. The Spaniard was suspended indefinitely for fouling Big Boy Peterson in the final outdoor show of the season here Friday night. Risko fouled Robert Roberts in his last battle and Hansen was sent down until his tangled managerial affairs were straightened out.

Hansen, the commissioner ruled, now can make his own matches while 20 per cent of his earnings will be withheld to pay any verdict that may be awarded by the courts to Walter Friedman, the melancholy Dane's deposed manager. Billy Gibson, pilot of Gene Tunney in the heavyweight wars, and Hansen's most recent managerial acquisition, must also wait until the courts rule upon his status.

Epworth League Meets Tonight

In order to allow basketball teams to make final reservations, officials of the Epworth Athletic association have scheduled a call meeting to be held Wednesday night, October 24, 6 o'clock, in the office, 1101 Georgia Savings Bank building. As the registration list closes October 26, this meeting was found advisable in order that delinquent leagues may have their representatives present to register them.

The All-Star basketball team, which begins practice October 29, is desirous of scheduling some out-of-town games for Wednesday nights within a radius of 50 or 75 miles of Atlanta. Any team interested in such a game will communicate with the manager, R. L. Watkins, at 721 Glenn building, and arrange all details.

Cagers Training. Reported Discouraging

Chicago, October 23.—(AP)—The Big Ten's basketball season is a long way off, but every squad in the conference is now in training. As usual, Coach Walter Meenwell, of Wisconsin, got the jump on his rivals.

Grid Doubleheaders

Chicago, October 23.—(AP)—The Big Ten's experiment with football double-headers through the use of reserve or "B" teams so far has been discouraging. Several athletic directors have reported.

When the Banker talks with the Engineer about PAVEMENTS

BOTH banker and engineer to be successful, must be keen judges of value. When they talk pavements, the truth comes out.

The banker knows that brick pavements are a safe investment for any community. Long life; less upkeep. He will tell you that they are thoroughly satisfactory even after 20 to 30 years of hard use and exposure to weather. They outlast the bonds.

The engineer can tell you why VITRIFIED

BRICK PAVEMENTS

FACE THE FUTURE - PAVE WITH BRICK

this is true. Briefly, paving brick, that dense tough surface, protects pavement foundation from wear. Being vitrified and laid with asphalt between bricks, it forms a surface that is weatherproof. The sand cushion protects the foundation from traffic shock.

Time-tried brick is the quality pavement. Its beautiful, even, smooth-riding surface remains that way. Ask for it on road or street. For further information address National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, National Press Building, Washington, D. C.

PIGGY-WIGGLY STAFF HOLDS BIG BANQUET

Dr. Owen and Eugene Talmadge Speakers at Social Event Closing Contest.

Grocery and market managers, their helpers, the office force and executives and their wives of the Piggy Wiggly Company of Georgia Tuesday night enjoyed a big banquet at the Henry Grady hotel, marking completion of a sales contest between the two divisions of local Piggy Wiggly stores.

The 16 stores headed by Supervisor McClain challenged the 16 headed by Supervisor Berry to the contest, the loser to spread and serve a feast for the winners. So successful was the contest, however, that the Piggy Wiggly organization turned the affair into a celebration banquet, defraying the expenses of the winners' plates in order to make the event a brilliant and elaborate one.

Speakers at the banquet were Dr. Russell Owen, pastor of the First Baptist church of Columbus, Ga., and well-known lecturer; Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, and R. J. Marshall, president of the Southern Stores corporation. Harry Brown, manager of the 32 Atlanta stores and vice president of the Piggy Wiggly Company of Georgia, acted as toastmaster, and Joe Woods, of Post Products, was master of ceremonies with peppy songs and jokes.

Mr. Talmadge spoke on "Why We Should Use More Georgia Products," decrying the tendency to patronize imported and non-Georgia foodstuffs, and Dr. Owen spoke on "Building a Business With a Soul." He pointed out that every man should strive at all times to sell service and honest quality along with his merchandise, his attitude toward this matter reflecting the soul of his city.

"Atlanta stands first in cultural standard of big business in the south today," he said. "The modern, progressive southern merchant has managed to combine the spiritual note of genial courtesy with the honest craft of the keen competitor. This spirit of Atlanta's business life is being broadcast all the time."

MERCHANTS PLAN FOR DISCUSSION OF HOLIDAY TRADE

With the outlook in favor of a splendid Christmas business among retail stores, the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association Friday night at a 6:15 o'clock supper at the Chamber of Commerce building will hold a retail business clinic to discuss up-to-date methods of increasing Christmas trade and improving the service of retail stores to the Christmas shopping public.

The association has accumulated from all sections of the United States several hundred practical, successful Christmas shopping ideas and plans. Each of these will be laid before the meeting of retailers Friday night for round-table discussion, so that each one present can pick from among the numerous ideas those that suit his particular business best.

Electrical Engineering, Architecture Popular With Evening Students

Electrical engineering and architecture are the two most popular courses for Atlanta students in the Georgia Tech evening school of applied science, it was brought out at the annual gathering of the school. Dr. M. L. Brittain and Dean Vernon Skiles talked to the students. Professor R. S. Howell, director of the school, presided.

The school is conducted five nights a week for Atlanta men and the enrollment has reached 320. Many Atlanta industries furnish students, the Georgia Power company leading with 15, the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company second with 13. The electrical engineering course leads with 53 and the architectural course is second with 41.

The school offers 37 regular teachers in addition to those drawn from Atlanta industries. All laboratories, shops and school equipment are open to the students.

That is the description of the situation in New York city as seen Tuesday by Martin Balagur, real estate operator, with offices at 115 West 104th street. The story of Smith's strength in Gotham was expressed in a letter to J. Balagur, father of the New York realtor, who lives in Atlanta.

CURB MARKET DATA

Carolina Official Wants Information on Local Institution.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Tuesday prepared to supply D. L. Donnell, manager of Guilford county, North Carolina, with data relative to operation of the Atlanta curb market. The information will be sent on request of the North Carolina official, who declared he had witnessed the operation of the Atlanta institution and wished to model one to be established there after it.

MASTER MODEL HOME IS SCENE OF 'CUE

Mayor Ragsdale, Officiating At Laying of Cornerstone, Pays Tribute.

Representatives of firms cooperating in erection of The Constitution's master model home in Morningside, and others interested in the movement for better homes, Tuesday afternoon were guests at a barbecue held immediately after Mayor I. N. Ragsdale had laid the cornerstone of the ideal dwelling.

Thomas K. Windham, head of Thomas K. Windham, Inc., and builder of the master model home, had a delightful barbecue smoking hot in readiness for the crowd, and immediately following Mayor Ragsdale's brief address all gathered about improvised tables at the rear of the spacious lot at 705 Morningside drive, the location of the master model home.

The tables were spread under pines, and the guests were served "cue of several varieties," Brunswick stew, pickles, cold drinks and a variety of tasty "fixings."

In making the cornerstone address, Mayor Ragsdale paid tribute to the work in home betterment being done by The Constitution and the business interests who are aiding in the erection of the master model home. This is but only according to specifications of the Home Owners Institute of America only of nationally-advertised and standard products as a means of showing the value of using the best in home building.

"That's what makes teeth dull and cloudy"

—a dingy film that ordinary brushing will not remove successfully. A new way to remove it.

THE greatest destroyer of lovely sparkling teeth, dental science knows as film. The source of most serious tooth and gum disorders is likewise film.

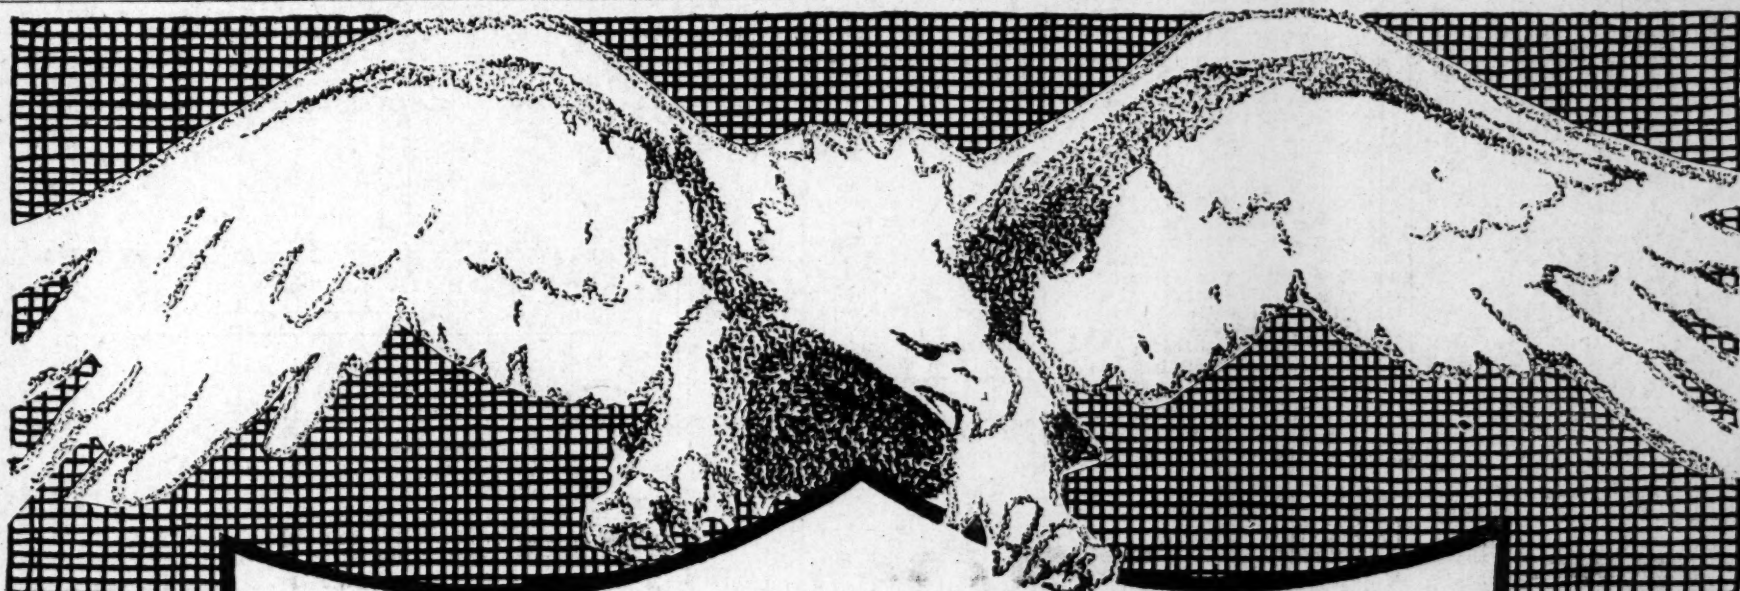

You can feel film with your tongue—a slippery, sticky coating. It clings to teeth and gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs stains from food and smoking. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, plus tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. To remove film, dentists prescribe the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent.

In a few days teeth grow whiter and begin to sparkle. They continue to improve for months. Start today. Get Pepsodent at any drug counter or write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

Miss Harwood Weds Mrs. Daniel O'Day To Be Feted Here In Springfield, Ill On Speaking Tour

Springfield, Ill., October 23.—At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Central Baptist church, Miss Thelma Harwood, daughter of Mrs. Mae Harwood, 592 South Walnut street, became the bride of George P. Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bartlett, of Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Euclid B. Rogers, pastor emeritus, pronounced the vows.

The bride entered with her brother, Vivian Harwood, who gave her in marriage. She was charming in a gown of ivory satin fashioned in straight lines with uneven hem and long sleeves white hose and white satin slippers. Her tulle veil was caught in place with orange blossoms and she wore a strand of pearls around her throat.

Miss Cora Edith Harwood, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. Miss Anna Bartlett, Atlanta, Ga., sister of the groom, and Miss Gladys Barker, acted as bridesmaids. Allen Bartlett, Birmingham, Ala., brother of the groom, acted as best man. Ushers were Dr. C. M. Duff, Pawnee, and Gordon Belton, this city.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's mother for the immediate friends and relatives.

The couple will be at home after October 25 at Maple Court apartment, suite No. 3, 96 Maple avenue, Malden, Mass., a suburb of Boston. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bartlett and Miss Anna Bartlett, Atlanta, Ga.; Allen Bartlett, Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Robert F. Smith, Lawrenceville, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Luke E. Plesley and daughters, Elizabeth and Louise, Florida; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Duff, Florida; Dr. C. M. Duff, Pawnee; Herbert Rickel, Kansas City; Mrs. J. S. ### Dr. Faust Speaks Before Better Films.

Mrs. Newton C. Wing, president of the Atlanta Better Films committee, urges members of the committee who expect to attend the monthly luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel at 12 o'clock Thursday, October 25, to make reservations before Wednesday noon. Mesdames Carl Wesley, O. J. Dinkler and C. E. Angell are making reservations for the general membership, while Mrs. D. W. Darden is reserving for the Palace Junior Matinee committee, and Mrs. J. H. Savage, West End Junior Matinee committee, is reserving for her committee. The ministers of the Evangelical association, many of whom have signified their intention to be present to Dr. W. H. Faust, the chairman, are asked to make reservations with Mrs. Wing.

The program features "The Use of Motion Pictures by the Churches," which will be in charge of Dr. Faust, of the Better Films executive board, upon which he represents the Protestant ministers of the city. Members of the better films committee plan to invite their ministers, and representatives of church organizations on the committee will act as hostesses.

Dr. Faust will present the subject and have on his program for five-minute talks Dr. J. W. Beagle, Dr. Witherston Dodge, Major Guinn and others. Dr. Beagle, superintendent of the work of home mission board, will mention the use of films in his work with the Indians; Dr. Dodge has been using the films to aid his religious work, and Major Guinn is an ardent believer in visual education helps with Sunday school classes. This is the third of the educational programs put on by the Atlanta Better Films committee, the two previous being the August program on "Motion Pictures in the Home," by E. E. Carothers, of the Eastman Kodak company, and the September talk on "Motion Pictures in the Schools," by E. R. Enlow, visual education director of Atlanta schools. The program will include a talk on "The King of Kings," the religious picture sponsored by the films body at the Metropolitan this week. Special guests will be Dr. C. E. Stauffer, president of the Ministers' Evangelical association; Carter Barron, manager of the Metropolitan; J. W. Hanlon, branch manager for Metro Goldwyn, and others.

M. RICH & BROS. CO. presents The FASHION BUREAU under the direction of Virginia Warren

The New Fashion Bureau Will Help You Harmonize Hosiery-Color With Costume

Holeproof Style Headquarters PARIS

The New Fashion Bureau breathes the very essence of modernism . . . from the petal-sconces of its frosted lights to the daring angles of its purple chair. It is modern in spirit, modern in the wisdom that grants to hosiery its full measure of importance in the Fashion scheme of things. A far cry since Grandmother blushed for shame when the wind revealed a bit of silken ankle—a far cry even since sturdy endurance and silken sheerness were the end-all and be-all of hose. Today style in hosiery is COLOR . . . and by a mere intangible suggestion of color-shading does the entire ensemble live.

Gladys Sutphen Kiplinger, Stylist for the Holeproof Hosiery Co., Is Here for the Opening of the Fashion Bureau

Miss Kiplinger is an expert on hosiery colors. Bring down a sample of your new frock, describe your new slippers to her . . . she will suggest just the subtle nuance for harmonizing hose.

Lucile, of Paris, Sends Her New Autumn Colors for Holeproof Hose to the Fashion Bureau

The rich browns, the tawny bronzes, the silvery shades . . . all the lovely colors that complement or accent your frocks and shoes.

Parisienne . . .

Is a mellow shade that blends with the new Trotteur Tan—the yellow beiges—the Forest Greens—the deep blues.

Marocain . . .

A deep, almost Chocolate brown as soft and warm as the luxurious furs on the newest coats.

Duvet . . .

A clear silver with a pink cast. Lovely with vivid blues or silver slippers.

Militaire . . .

A gallant color—gun metal to wear with black, navy or Oxford gray.

Chateau . . .

A shade more gray than beige with a suggestion of tan that gives it new transparency.

Chantilly . . .

The true beige for daytime or evening. An exquisite complement for the dark greens and wood browns.

President General U. D. C. Stresses Three Most Important Branches

BY LAMAR SPARKS.

The scope and meaning of the three most important branches of U. D. C. work: historical, educational and benevolent, were stressed by Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, of Chatham, Va., president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in her address before the opening session of the thirty-fourth annual convention of Georgia division, U. D. C., which was held at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at St. Mark's church, Mrs. W. Trox Bankston, state president, and Mrs. L. D. T. Quinby, president of the Fulton chapter, U. D. C., hostess chapter of the convention, presiding. The custom of members of the U. D. C. to collect, write and teach history; to see that correct text books are placed in schools; that memorials are established; veterans and women of the Confederacy are cared for, and that educational work is fostered through scholarships to sons of Confederate veterans, were emphasized by Mrs. Merchant. This is her first official visit to Georgia since her election to office in Charleston, S. C., last year, and she has been for years one of the outstanding workers of the national organization and that of her native state, Virginia. She served as corresponding secretary general, chairman of education, and held other important offices on general committees. Her excellent work on the history of the general organization is of interest to members of the Georgia division and convention at large.

In introducing Mrs. Merchant, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, of Montezuma, first vice president of the general division, U. D. C., spoke of her as a woman preeminently fitted to the position of a descendant from an aristocratic family, her forebears having been prominent in the politics of the state as well as veterans of the revolution and the war between the states. "She is a member of the Colonial Dames and the D. A. R.," Mrs. McKenzie said. "She has been a potent factor among organized women of Virginia. By reason of her splendid executive ability, through her knowledge of parliamentary usage, a good speaking voice, and a perfect knowledge of the many departments of the U. D. C. work, the general division is most fortunate to have her as its leader. The Georgia division congratulates themselves on the honor of having her as its guest and extends to her a most hearty welcome."

Governor's Greetings.

Greetings on behalf of the state were extended by Governor Hardman. His speech in part follows: "Georgia was the first of all the states in the union to inaugurate what has become the universal custom of decorating annually the graves of the heroic dead. It was a Georgia woman who was given the credit for suggesting the unity of chapters of all states into one body. Even the expression, 'Daughters of the Confederacy,' was first used by a Georgian—John B. Gordon, when introducing Wannie Davis, the last surviving daughter of the president of the Confederacy, while a guest of Georgia's capital city."

"So in bringing you greetings it is with a just pride in the past our state has had in this patriotic organization of the U. D. C. You splendid women of the Confederate states, lineal descendants of those who fought and aided the southern army, are doing more than memorializing our heroes of the Confederacy and in seeing that it is properly taught to the coming generation, and in the higher education of lineal descendants. In the rising tide of our southern posterity we would not forget the struggles of those past it has been possible to make of the south not a 'land of problems,' but a land of promise."

Mrs. Bankston's Tribute.

Mrs. W. Trox Bankston, of Covington, U. D. C., paid a fitting tribute to the late Mrs. Helen Plane, first president of the Georgia division, U. D. C., which was organized in Atlanta with only four chapters, Atlanta, Augusta, Covington and Savannah. Mrs. Bankston called attention to the fact that the present convention marks the third time that it has been held in Atlanta, and contrasted the Georgia division with its four chapters to that of the present division with its 125 chapters. More national officers are in attendance upon the present convention than ever before in the history of the organization, and this group,

Tooth paste' buys a muffler for Dad

It sounds mysterious—but isn't. Do a little arithmetic with us and find out. The average dentifrice costs you 50¢. You use about a tube a month. Twelve times fifty equals six dollars, the yearly cost. Listerine Tooth Paste costs 25¢ (the large tube). Twelve times twenty-five equals three dollars. All right. Six dollars minus three dollars equals three dollars, your annual saving. Spend it as you please. The muffler is merely a suggestion. You have a thousand alternatives. Hosiery, for instance, or gloves, or handkerchiefs.

Not by price alone did this dentifrice seize popularity

WHAT accounts for the immediate success of this speedy new dentifrice? Certainly not the price alone.

While it is true that at 25¢ Listerine Tooth Paste accomplishes an average saving of three dollars a year per person, over dentifrices costing double that amount, this would not carry it so quickly to a position among the leaders.

It is the combination of outstanding quality, unquestioned results, and a reasonable price, that has done the trick.

Naturally, such a price for such a paste is made possible only by ultra-modern methods of manufacture and mass production. We urge you to try Listerine Tooth Paste. It will be a revelation to you.

Note how white it makes your teeth. How gently it polishes them—yet how speedily. Note, too, how cool, sweet and refreshed your mouth feels long after the brushing is over—that cleanly taste you associate with Listerine.

We are proud of this product, and we ask you to compare it with any paste, at any price and judge by results alone. At all druggists. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Chicago Tribune Praises Mrs. Alfred E. Smith.

Never since women have had the vote has the country staged such an exciting presidential election as the present one, which calls the women to the polls Tuesday, November 6. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks, a leader in the social life of Chicago, Ill., is a staunch democrat and entertained Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, wife of the democratic nominee, at luncheon in her home in Lake Forest. Of this luncheon the Chicago Tribune of Sunday, October 21, has the following to say:

"Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks' luncheon last Thursday for Mrs. Alfred Smith, wife of the democratic candidate for president, was a gay, informal affair, with plenty of good talk and absolutely no speeches. Mrs. Smith won the admiration of those present by her pleasant, quiet, friendly, easy manners. She had a happy, unselfconscious air which made an immediate impression of genial interest in every one and life in general."

Out in Lake Forest, a group of well known residents have formed themselves into a "Smith-for-President" club, with Mrs. Stanley Field, president, the club being held at the meeting held at the residence of Judge Clarence Norton Goodwin. Perhaps the most surprising member of the club is Hemphrest Washburne, who belongs to one of the most distinguished republican families in the land. His father, the late Hemphrest Washburne, was republican mayor of Chicago, while his grandfather, the late Elihu B. Washburne, was one of the founders of the republican party, and was United States senator from Illinois from 1862 to 1880, when he accepted office of secretary of state under President U. S. Grant.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PETER FOLLOWS HIS NOSE.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who to his task himself doth lend
Will be triumphant in the end.
—Old Mother Nature.

Peter Rabbit reached the Green Forest in safety. Then he began to look for his cousin, Jumper the Hare. The first one he met was Prickly Porky the Porcupine. Peter dearly loves to be a carrier of news. "Have you heard that Jimmy Skunk is lame because some one attacked him?" Peter inquired.

Prickly Porky merely grunted and started up a tree. It was very clear that Prickly Porky wasn't the least bit interested in Jimmy Skunk. A little farther on Peter met Bobby Coon. "Have you heard the news, Bobby?" cried Peter.

"Do you suppose there is any one who hasn't heard it?" retorted Bobby. "You are a little late, Peter, a little late, Sammy Jay has already been here."

Peter looked a little disappointed, but wasn't altogether surprised. "Who do you suppose did it, Bobby?" he asked.

"Some one who was willing to take a chance, and who there is who would want to take such a chance, I can't think," replied Bobby.

Peter went along. Pretty soon he met Jumper the Hare. Before he could open his mouth to ask Jumper if he had heard the news, Jumper said: "Yes, Peter, I've heard the news. Now who do you suppose could have been so foolish?"

"I haven't the least idea," replied Peter. "I wish I had. But I'm going to find out. Yes, sir, I'm going to find out."

"How are you going to find out?" asked Jumper. "I don't know," replied Peter. "I just am, that's all."

So Peter continued on his way through the Green Forest, asking all the people whom he met if they knew who had been bold enough to attack Jimmy Skunk. Always he got the same answer—"No." He discovered that it was the talk of the Green Forest. You see, every one knows Jimmy so well and has so much respect for that little scent-gun he carries, that no one could imagine anyone being rash enough to attack Jimmy. So the puzzle was as much a puzzle as ever. Peter had even gone so far in as the pond of Paddy the Beaver without getting even a

THEN ALL-BRAN SAVED HIM FROM CONSTIPATION

A message for people who use laxatives

Mr. Skiles wrote us a voluntary testimonial after Kellogg's ALL-BRAN had saved him from dreadful constipation. Read his tribute:

July 12, 1927

"For years I have been so constipated. After trying every kind of drug possible, I could only get temporary relief. I became discouraged and gave up hopes, when a friend told me to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I had read so many testimonials I had no faith. I was of the opinion testimonials were put out by friends. I will not only give you the privilege to use my name, but will put on the witness stand and testify to my statement. I cannot express words great enough to meet with Kellogg's food."

ARTHUR SKILES, 325 N. Kedzie Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

If constipation is preying upon your health, check it before too late. Stop using those irritating, forcing laxatives, stop it before this harmful practice fastens its grip too tight.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Just eat two tablespoonsfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. A 100% bran cereal—delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking too. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

OUR CLUB—By Seckatary Hawkins

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL
BY ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.

GETTING AT DAD THROUGH DAUGHTER.

"There is no use doing anything with her, her dad was just the same sort of a person, and you can't knock it out of her. Now for a real nice girl give me my other daughter. She is so easy to talk with, she agrees with everything I say, she is really a lovely girl. But the younger one is just like her dad."

This letter from the younger daughter of a family quotes the foregoing statement as one her mother pours out to the neighbors. It is followed by a long story explaining how she, the younger daughter referred to, has to do all the housework, wait on the older sister, who gets all the nice clothes and all mamma's petting, while the younger daughter goes to bed at night and sobs herself to sleep.

Nearly always letters of this kind which come to this Temple of Council tell how the older daughter has a bean and stays up until 1 in the morning, while the younger girl is not allowed to have a boy friend call on her. And if she did have she would have to entertain him in the kitchen while the girl who is a little older enjoys the living room.

Of course, we know which sister wears the silk step-ins and has a pair of fresh stockings every other day. Here is a very real and veridical problem. The answer is not difficult. The girl is like her father. Every time the mother sees her younger daughter she is reminded of her father. Obviously the mother has no one upon whom to vent her nagging complex except the daughter who resembles the father. Situations like this abound.

The poor younger daughter in today's letter, who signs herself "Just a Butterfly Caught in the Rain," asks me what she should do. Shall she stick to school for the next year and a half and then graduate, or shall she get a good job and then leave home? She even says, "Do you know of a good place where somebody would adopt me?"

My advice to a girl—or a boy—is never to leave home until she is prepared for a job and has education enough to back her determination to fight her own battles unsupported. Painful as the situation is, it is less so than to step out into the world until by training and education one is prepared to meet it on even terms.

Airways Plane Burns.

Calgary, Alta., October 23.—(AP)—A De Havilland biplane of the Western Canada airways, of Winnipeg, nose-dived when a few feet from the ground and was destroyed by fire in an attempt to take-off from a stubblefield east of Calgary today. The extent of injuries to passengers could not be ascertained, but long-distance telephone reports indicated few were hurt.

HER HEAD ACHED SO BAD
HAD TO STAY IN BED

MANY a man or woman has found relief from headache, when a condition of constipation was the underlying cause, by taking a simple, powdered preparation of selected medicinal leaves and roots, known far and wide as Thedford's Black-Draught. It has been in successful use for more than eighty-seven years, with constantly increasing popularity, by reason of its own value.

Here is an instance of how Black-Draught proved of benefit to a Louisiana lady:

"About two years ago, I was suffering from constipation," writes Mrs. F. Guidry, of 637 Middle Street, Baton Rouge, La.

"I would have severe headache, and would have to stay in bed a day or two. A time. I tried different remedies; did not get relief.

"I read of Black-Draught, and decided to try it, and have never been sorry I did, for it gave me relief quicker than anything I have ever tried.

"And now, whenever I feel the least symptom (of constipation), I take Black-Draught, and that keeps off that hot Calgary fever. The extent of injuries to passengers could not be ascertained, but long-distance telephone reports indicated few were hurt.

"When you take Black-Draught, the digestive organs are helped in a healthy, natural way, and normal elimination is restored without the sickening effects that characterize the use of powerful mineral drugs.

"Good for children, grown men and women, and those of advanced age. Get the genuine—see that the yellow package bears the name 'Thedford's.'"

Sold everywhere; in 25c and $1 packages. Try it.

The New Cloister Hotel

SEA ISLAND BEACH SAINT SIMONS ISLAND

Formal Opening Saturday, October 27

THE rare natural beauty of Saint Simons—a touch of the old splendor of Madrid and Seville—a bit of the spirit and fun of Broadway—that is The Cloister, Sea Island Beach's new hotel.

Distinctive in design and architecture—in appointments and furnishings—in the beauty of its location and setting—The Cloister is even more distinctive in the wealth of its sports and recreations afforded to guests all the year round.

The Cloister overlooks the ocean and Sea Island's splendid five-mile beach. The new casino and pool are only a few steps away. The golf course is one of the best in the South. Tennis and archery courts on the hotel grounds.

The magnificent 60,000-acre private hunting preserve opens for the first time to hotel guests the splendid hunting possibilities for which the Coastal Islands have been famous for centuries. Hunting lodge, horses, dogs, guns and swift speedboats to carry guests back and forth to the hotel are provided.

With hunting, golf, fishing, yachting, tennis, horseback riding, archery and other sports, The Cloister offers advantages enjoyed nowhere else in the South. Dancing, music and appropriate entertainment insure a good time for every one.

The hotel will open on Saturday evening, October 27. Distinguished guests will be present. It will be an evening of fun—favors—and frivolity. You are cordially invited. Informal dress.

The Southern Railroad offers special round trip Rates of $10.00 from Atlanta to Brunswick for the Hotel opening. Advance Reservations for opening Dinner and Hotel Accommodations advised. Make Reservation to Cloister Hotel or Sea Island Co.

Wonderful Prizes--Waiting for Winners!

Notice to Contestants in The Atlanta Constitution's $8,000 Movietest:

If any subscription turned in by you is declined by The Constitution you will be given until midnight, Nov. 7th, to replace that subscription, should you desire to retain your eligibility in the prize lists first selected.

3 Wonderful Orthophonic Victor Victrolas

Wonderful as are the automobiles and all the rest of the 34 prizes, no prizes in the list will bring more sheer happiness into the home than the three magnificent ORTHOPHONIC VICTOR VICTROLAS. There is really nothing that can compare with the joy of orthophonic music except the singing or playing of the artists themselves. This is literally true and is basically why The Atlanta Constitution selected THREE Orthophonic Victrolas as awards.

Kreiser—Elman—Heifetz. A violin, quivering with a thousand varied emotions that transcend words. Swiftly your surroundings vanish. You see a black Hungarian forest. YOU ARE AT THE CONCERT—IN YOUR OWN HOME. So realistic, so life-like, is reproduction through the Orthophonic Victrolas that the artist seems to stand there before you. Whatever the season, this versatile instrument brings you and your friends the best of the world's music by the world's greatest artists—and as many encores as you wish.

THREE ORTHOPHONICS will be awarded by The Constitution. These magnificent instruments are on exhibition at Bame's, Inc., 107 Peachtree, N. E., Duffee-Freeman Furniture Co., 74 Broad, and Phillips & Crew Piano Co., 181 Peachtree, N.E.

It was on the day following the first announcement that The Constitution was going to present THE MOVIE TEST with a group of attractive prizes.

In the mail of THE MOVIE TEST Editor was found a letter. This letter was from a housewife, and part of that letter is quoted in the following:

"It goes without saying that you are going to give away some lovely prizes. No doubt you will have automobiles, and radios, and Victrolas and all sorts of beautiful prizes. But listen, Mr. Movietest Editor, HAVE YOU EVER STOPPED TO CONSIDER THAT MANY HOUSEWIVES SUCH AS MYSELF WOULD RATHER WIN SOMETHING PRACTICAL FOR THE HOME THAN AN AUTOMOBILE?"

"Why don't you offer a Kelvinator Electric Refrigerator? Thousands of women would love to have it. Thousands of us who have just been on the verge of buying it but stopped for any one of a dozen trivial reasons."

"You don't have to be afraid of giving a way a Kelvinator because those of us who have been deciding upon buying an electrical refrigerator know that Kelvinator is the pioneer in its field, and that from its earliest days it has been dependable. I clearly understand it is much easier for you men who stay all day in offices to grow enthusiastic about an automobile or a musical instrument—but did you ever try to place a value on convenience, enjoyment and wholesomeness—on leisure hours created, or on improved quality and increased healthfulness of foods?"

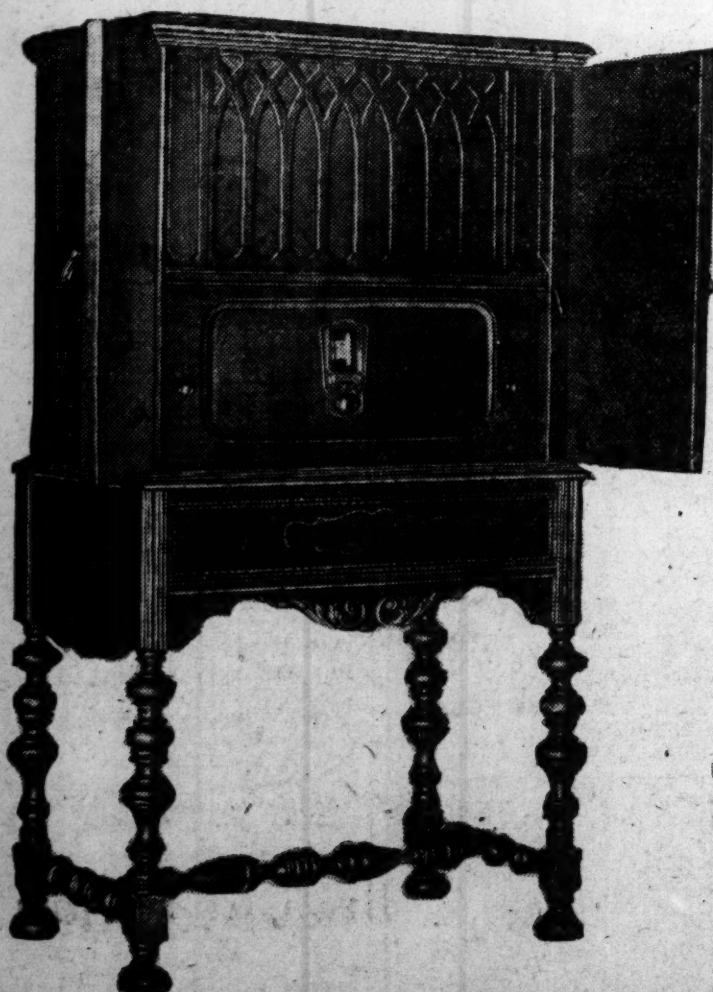

"If you want to give a prize that will surely build good-will for your newspaper, give something that will last—something that will be as prized years from now as it is today. You might be interested in knowing that I have a friend whose Kelvinator is 12 years old, and it is running on, smoothly, quietly and economically after 12 years of service."

"Anyway, that's my idea of a REAL PRIZE either for you to award, or for some one to win. Do something NEW, Movietest Editor. Give a Kelvinator as a prize."

The Movietest Editor duly considered and investigated just what the writer of that letter had said. And as a result there are TWO KELVINATORS offered by The Constitution as prizes in THE MOVIE TEST.

Both of these Kelvinators are on exhibition at 492 Peachtree street, through courtesy of the Kelvinator Sales Corporation at Atlanta.

THE NIGHTMARE

By GERALD MYGATT

STORY BY
Patricia Shane is being entertained in one of New York's night clubs by Fanning Edgier. She is annoyed by his flouting of the room. At the table with the hawk are a blonde, coarse looking woman and a slight young man who appears to be drunk. The hawk waiter calls young Edgier away from his table on a pretext, and as soon as he is gone the hawk approaches Patricia and tries to engage her in conversation. He is interrupted by a good looking young chap, who orders him back to his place. The newcomer introduces himself as Jimmie Kirkin. Patricia tells Kirkin that she thinks the hawk-nosed person had asked the head waiter to get rid of her escort. A fight comes and Fanning Edgier walks in on it. He pays the head waiter to restore order and Patricia introduces Kirkin to him and then asks Fanning to take her home. A few minutes later as Kirkin leaves the place with his companion, he is followed by a man on the street who appears to be drunk.

The hawk-nosed person, known as Bart Stoman, after taking the blonde woman home, makes for his secret hide-out and there goes over a number of old newspaper clippings dealing with the disappearance of the 14-year-old daughter of Colonel La Verry, who offers a million dollar reward for the safe return of the girl. Stoman glances over the red birthmark shown in the pictures.

The next day, which is Saturday, Patricia and Jimmie spend the afternoon together and then Patricia takes the train to her home in Far Harbor, Long Island, after Jimmie promises to come out to Far Harbor Monday. Patricia goes to meet Jimmie at the end of the bus line on Monday and is bitterly disappointed when he doesn't appear.

But in the meantime Jimmie has followed the blonde woman, whom he'd seen in conversation with the hawk in the railroad station. From the hawk's hotel in New York, where she was joined by another man. From their conversation Jimmie feels that the blonde woman is in a bad way. He hires a car to take him to Far Harbor. He is followed by the hawk, who is a man whom Jimmie had overheard talking to the blonde woman. The stranger tells Patricia that he is a motion picture possibility.

INSTALLMENT XXIII. AN UNEXPECTED INTERLUDE.
Bart, after a moment, went on. They had been hurried a little, he explained, by the newspaper announcement, since verified, that Colonel La Verry was setting out within a week on a tour of the world. The hurry, however, was, perhaps, just as well, for it had been Bart's experience that a plan of operations, once conceived, should be carried to its conclusion at the earliest possible moment. Let plans drag, he said, and something untoward always seemed to happen.

He poked up and down again, snapping his words out crisply. Due Lasten . . . hypnotize the girl . . . make her really believe she was Sylvia La Verry . . . fix her then . . . nose, maybe; perhaps not necessary . . . birthmark a cinch . . . dozens of photographs to do her in . . . lead her up to her father—

"Who leads her up?" asked Dopey Joe.
"The doc, of course. She's drifted in to him. Case of amnesia, loss of memory. Lots of it in the papers. Mostly fakes—guys or dames tryin' to get away from home troubles—but some of 'em are real. Shmoo does it. Says so in books I've read. Anyway, this kid, who is now Sylvia, has drifted in to the doc and finally he cures her and realizes who she is. He takes her to the old man and gets the reward."

"And walks away with it," said the pallid little man.
"Not him," said Bart Stoman, his dark eyes glistening. "He'll be watched from soup to nuts by the pallid little man. Then why use him if you've got to watch him?"
"Why use him? Don't be simple, Joe. He goes with the kid. Remember, she's been hypnotized cold so she thinks she's Sylvia, and she's had her nose broke—we may lay off that on account of the short time, as there might be a swelling—anyway, she's had this birthmark tattooed across her pretty face."

"Can she ever get it off?"
"Hell, no! Don't you know anything about tattooing? It's in there for keeps. Well, she's been hypnotized and tattooed, both the doc's jobs. All right, the doc takes her and palms the million snackers. Suppose something slips? Who gets the snail?"
"Ask me another," said the little man acidly.

"Do you get caught?" queried Stoman with gleaming eyes. "Do you me, Queenie, I or anybody get caught? Don't be sill!"
"That's right," said Dopey Joe with satisfaction. "There's only one thing I don't get. The doc can't hypnotize her against her will. Nix! Not him! What he does, he claims and says he can back it, is to remove the will. Try an answer that one."

"Not me," said the little man. "I'd like to see it, though."
"You can't. Your job's here."
"O, all right. I guess I'm the kind of guy whose job is to miss everything. But hell, I don't care! I have my fun in my own way." He straightened up slowly, opened his eyes wide. "Now, how about tonight, Bart?"

"Cinch," said he. "Queenie stays here for alibi purposes. You go over and call on the girl's father. Same purpose. You're sittin' there Joe, all the time this goes on. You know, talkin' nice—so-and-so and so-and-so—make up your own line. Jake and I—Jake have wear his cop's uniform—Jake and I go out and nail the two we want, the girl and Kirkin. They'll be out by themselves somewhere if things are as you say. If they ain't out, we'll cop her, nail him later and make it look like he done it."

Said the pallid man: "That fits. What then?"
"Car waiting. Heave 'em in. Drive to beach two miles this side of Port Adams. Evansson waiting there—rowboat. One of the rum boats outside. Take 'em across the sound—Westport. Place called Compo Beach. Nobody there but artists and writers. Land 'em. One of Evansson's trucks there. Sling 'em in. Box 'em to look like boxes of books. Evansson already has Doc Lasten's stuff aboard. Deliver the whole works—Lasten's stuff, girl, Kirkin, ever-thing—to the little old dump in 'Twenty-somethin' street at 10:30 tomorrow morning. Load of furniture movin' in, it looks like. Broad daylight! Lots of business! That's the way to do it in New York. Probably have a cop holdin' up traffic for us. Well, that's how it's fixed. And we're all in the place at once. Queenie and the doc and I slide in after dark. Then the doc does his stuff."

"How's that?" he asked. "Any holes in it?"
The woman shook her head. "You're wonderful, Bart," she whispered.

"See any holes, Joe?"
"Not a hole," said the little man, slowly shaking his head.
"Let's have a drink," said the little man. "Just a short one, Bart. We ought to drink to ourselves, seems to me."

The drinks had been mixed and they were raising their glasses when they heard a muffled noise in the hall. The noise resolved itself into footsteps which entered the room. Then there came a knocking upon the connecting door.

"Somebody coming," said Queenie. "Trust Jake to call Bart."
Heavier footfalls resounded in the hall. They hesitated, then came on. Now they stopped dead before the door. Boom! Boom! A momentary silence, then knock-knock-knock upon the door.

The three eyed one another, automatically hid their drinks.
"Come in," said Stoman loudly.
The door flung open, Jimmie Kirkin stood there and smiled.
"Am I intruding?" he asked.
It was Queenie at length who first found voice.
"Won't you come in?" she said. Then she stood up and went toward him, holding out her two hands. He did it prettily, gracefully, and for that one brief moment Queenie Allinson was in command of the situation.
"Do come in," said the doc.
"Aren't you Mr. Kirkin?"
Jimmie bowed and said, "Yes."

"Well, come in, then. I know you have something to tell us." She shot an arch side glance at him. "Wasn't you in the next room, was it?" she asked with round-eyed innocence. "But how did you know my name?" asked Jimmie, momentarily bewildered. The woman laughed and pointed to the pallid little man. Her face changed now and she turned toward Stoman.

"I really think you ought to apologize to Mr. Kirkin, honey. You know you were awfully tight the other night."

"Please let me apologize," Bart said hastily, and stepped forward. "I guess I was a mess the other night. I—I was tight. I don't know what I got that way, except that both Mrs. Stoman and I were captivated by Miss Shane's screen possibilities. I—I'm ashamed of myself."

Said Jimmie kindly, "O, that's all right." He shook the other's hand, courteously but without enthusiasm. For a moment he hesitated, while he drew a deep breath. Then he said, almost bluntly, "It's about Miss Shane's screen possibilities that I wanted to speak to you."

The hawk-nosed man took a step backward. "What?" he asked.
"I thought we might talk business," said Jimmie.

Chicago, October 23.—(AP)—Speculators who heretofore have been selling wheat, but buying corn, reversed the process today, and what values went up. Taking the day as a whole corn averaged lower, but at the finish was on exactly an even par.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at 3-4 to 1-1/2c net higher, with corn varying from 1-2c decline to an equal advance, oats a shade to 1-4c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Helping to lift the price of wheat today were reports current that Russia would probably enter the world market as a buyer of wheat owing to crop shortage in the region of the Black sea.

Germany Buying Wheat.

Advices were also at hand that Germany is buying wheat freely, as wheat offerings are light. Decided falling-off in receipts of domestic wheat northwest tended likewise to strengthen prices, arrivals at Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago today amounting to but 450 cars, compared with 1,200 cars a week ago.

Curtailling of the movement northwest was variously attributed to failure of railroads to supply cars and also to farmers being occupied with fall work, besides, Canadian country marketings for one day were only 722,000 bushels against 6,800,000 bushels a year ago.

On the other hand, the world's available supply of wheat is 21,373,000 bushels for the week and is now 335,082,000 bushels against 303,017,000 bushels last year.

Export Demand Faster.

Meanwhile, export demand for wheat from North America resulted in business estimated at only 400,000 bushels, but including some United States hard winter wheat as well as durum. Selling of wheat into store here continued today to the extent of 100,000 bushels.

Favorable weather prevailing throughout the corn belt, with a forecast of additional improvement in the shape of lower temperatures, gave an advantage at this time to hard winter wheat, which is being marketed in corn at present, however, were figured as less than 2,500,000 bushels compared with nearly 20,000,000 bushels a year ago.

Provisions acted firmer. Lard shorts were covering, notwithstanding that hog values were 10c to 20c lower.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

IN MAY, 1898, WHILE SAMPSON'S BLOCKADING SQUADRON LAY OFF THE NORTHERN COAST OF CUBA, KEEPING A BRIGHT LOOKOUT FOR SIGNS OF CHERVEN'S SPANISH FLEET, SEVERAL SHARP CLASHES OCCURRED BETWEEN OUR SCOUTING VESSELS AND THE ENEMY LAND FORCES.

THREE SPANISH GUNBOATS WERE REPORTED HIDING IN THE HARBOR OF CARDENAS. MAY 11 THE LITTLE TORPEDO BOAT "WINSLOW", FOLLOWED AT SOME DISTANCE BY THE CONVERTED REVENUE CUTTER "HUDSON" AND THE GUNBOAT "WILMINGTON". BOLDLY STEAMED INTO THE HARBOR OF CARDENAS TO ATTACK THE ENEMY SHIPS.

The Story of Our War With Spain.
The Affair of the "Winslow"

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

TWO THOUSAND YARDS FROM SHORE, WITH THE "WINSLOW" TEARING THROUGH THE WATER AT FULL SPEED, HER CREW SUDDENLY OBSERVED THAT THEY WERE ENTERING A FIELD OF MYSTERY RED BUOYS. IT WAS AN AMBUSH LAID BY THE SPANIARDS.

THE BUOYS MARKED THE EXACT RANGE FOR THE GUNS OF A MASKED SPANISH BATTERY TRAINED ON THE SPOT. AT ONCE CAME A MURDEROUS VOLLEY FROM THE HIDDEN GUNS, RIDDLING THE "WINSLOW", AND DISABLING HER STEERING GEAR, MAKING THE VESSEL UNMANEUVERABLE.

55,729 DRY LAW CASES PROSECUTED IN A YEAR

Gain of 15,020 Proceedings Shown in Department of Justice Report.

Washington, October 23.—(AP)—There were 55,729 federal criminal prohibition cases prosecuted by the department of justice for the fiscal year ending June 30 and jail sentences imposed reached a total of more than 7,700 years.

The department of justice in a summary of the year's activities issued today said the number of cases prosecuted had increased to 15,020 over the preceding year. The number of cases terminated during the year was 55,429, leaving 18,250 cases still to be dealt with.

In the record of the cases terminated, the results were: Convictions 48,820; acquittals 1,431; nolle prossed or discontinued 6,114; quashed, dismissed, demurred, etc., 2,040.

There were 34 convictions to each acquittal, a slight gain over the preceding year. The department said, "The aggregate of fines, forfeitures and penalties imposed were $7,303,563. Jail and prison sentences imposed reached a total of more than 7,700 years, an increase of 48 per cent, the highest aggregate of sentences since the prohibition law went into effect."

The record in regard to smuggling of liquor into the United States by water-craft discloses that during the past year 370 domestic ship seizures were made and of foreign vessels seized there were 22.

4 Universities Closed As Budapest Renews Anti-Semitic Riots

Budapest, Hungary, October 23.—(AP)—A government order closing four universities, a bitter parliamentary debate ending in a challenge to a duel, 140 arrests and numerous minor casualties were the products of renewed anti-semitic riots today. Students and workmen fought bitterly, police charged the crowds viciously, and government adherents alleged that the students were aiming to overthrow the government of Count Stefan Bethlen, prime minister.

The order closing the four universities will be effective until after an official investigation has been completed. The outbreaks among the students started several weeks ago when they alleged that the government was foisting upon the institutions a greater proportion of Jewish students than was allowed by law.

NU-GRAPE COMPANY PLANS TO CARRY PRODUCT TO EUROPE

A new common stock issue to finance a pretentious expansion program which includes invasion of foreign countries will be offered the public in the near future, it was announced Monday by Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, of the seventh ward, manager of the Atlanta branch of the Nu-Grape Company of America and vice president of the national organization.

Mr. Dobbs has just returned from New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, where he conferred with eastern capitalists concerning the expansion program, and will return there in about ten days to complete arrangements.

The firm bottles Nu-Grape, a nationally-known product, and a line of other soft drinks under the trade name of Nu-ley. There are 16 different flavors, including Nu-ley pale dry ginger ale and Coco-Shake, a chocolate beverage.

"At the present time, plans for the stock issue are still unsettled," Mr. Dobbs said, "but I feel the time is ripe to begin to take the line which we manufacture into all parts of the country. Nu-Grape has been on the market for several years, and has met with phenomenal success. Large dividends have been earned for the stockholders, and there is every indication that the people of the United States and foreign countries, where we plan to establish branches, will receive the product with as much favor as it has been received where it has been marketed in the past."

"The company has neither bonded nor preferred stock indebtedness, and is in excellent financial condition. Nu-ley products were first introduced to the south this summer through car plants, and were received with enthusiasm. This has led us to enter negotiations for the expansion with a belief that the firm is to be one of the biggest in the entire country."

ONE DEAD, 3 MAY DIE IN ARIZONA SHOOTING EPISODE

Flagstaff, Ariz., October 23.—(AP)—One man was dead and three other persons were not expected to recover following a shooting episode and an automobile accident near here early today.

Sarah Campbell shot his wife and a neighbor, Wilbur Carlos, with a shotgun, and then took his own life. Elmer Carlos, a brother of the wounded man, sustained a fractured skull when his car smashed into another automobile as he was hastening for a physician. Mrs. Campbell had sought shelter at the Carlos home when she reported her husband had threatened her with a shotgun.

GOOD HORSEKEEPING!

In the "good old days" of the horse and buggy the "Good Horsekeeping Magazine" would have told you that the only way to keep your horse going was to give him the proper shoes to run on. In other words, the "shod horse files"—same way with your car in these days—you gotta have something for it to run on. Now you might think that would bring on the question of finances—None! you are all wrong—don't need money to get tires as long as old Cottongim is down on Spring Street hollering "Come on down and get yours."

Boy, we got credit as is truly credit—in fact you got to give us credit for the way we give credit. We are the most creditable credit you can find—and we give you credit on those good Cottongim and Firestone tires and tubes.

Dash down this way and let old Cottongim fix your bus up so you can get the best use of it.

Yours as usual—for credit.

Pretty Emory Co-Eds Seek Jobs of Placement Bureau

THREE ATLANTA GIRLS FILE APPLICATIONS

By C. M. MILLAN.

Three pretty Atlanta girls, who are co-eds at Emory university, intend to make their education count in a financial way, it was revealed Tuesday, with announcement that Miss Naneita Antilotti, a senior in the Lamar school of law, and Misses Charlotte Emerson and Ida Landau, seniors in the graduate school of the biology department, have filed applications with the new placement bureau at Emory.

Leslie K. Patton, superintendent of the placement department recently established for the purpose of obtaining part-time employment for students in the school and positions for others after they graduate, stated that the three applications were the first he had received from co-eds.

Miss Antilotti is the only applicant who wanted part-time work while still going to college. She will receive her degree in law in June of 1929 and is anxious to get employment in a law office. The other two young women, who set their masters' degrees in December, are applying for places as teachers or technicians when their courses in college are completed.

Since its establishment in September the bureau has placed eighty odd students at part-time employment. These jobs range all the way from minding a neighbor's baby, when the parents are absent, to waiting on the tables in the dining hall.

One boy is employed every afternoon climbing trees and poles in the erection of radio aerials, having contracted to do all this work at the disposal of one local firm. Another boy, a freshman, is serving as a coach for a sixth grade youngster living near the campus. There are others who scrub floors, wash windows, sell shoes downtown, do agency work, printing, painting, typing, firing furnaces and fill all other available jobs. Some of the work is done in the morning, some in the afternoon and some at night. The student usually can arrange his studies according to his job.

In addition to the three co-ed applicants, there are applications, as yet unfilled in the bureau, from ten professional students, nine juniors and seniors, nineteen sophomores and twenty-seven freshmen.

It's Your Own Fault

If you have to slave in order to keep your house clean, it is your own fault. Remember, one-half of the dirt is caused by coal smoke.

Black smudges on the wood work; dust all over the furniture and hangings; dingy wall paper—all caused by the excessive black smoke that pours from your own and your neighbors' chimneys.

Semet-Slovay Coke, "the clean fuel," abolishes the smoke nuisance. It burns clean, only 10% residue, and gives off no black smoke at all.

You can cut your house-cleaning work in half, and save on cleaning bills, by using Semet-Slovay Coke.

FRANCES NEWMAN, FAMOUS AUTHOR, TO BE BURIED TODAY

Private funeral services at the graveside in West View cemetery will be conducted today for Miss Frances Newman, famous Atlanta author, who died Monday in New York.

Miss Newman's body will be returned to Atlanta at 9:45 o'clock this morning accompanied by her brother, Henry Newman, his wife and a sister, Mrs. John Patterson. The hour for services has not been definitely announced.

From that moment Miss Newman gained recognition and until the time of her death she was active in her writing and even in her fatal illness she was working upon a French translation which will be published some time this winter.

Her style was identified by the lack of paragraphing and the absence of conversation. She wrote in a sophisticated manner and much of the exotic may be found in her work. "The Hardbitten Virgin" and "Dead Lovers Are Faithful Lovers" are her two best known novels.

Three stills and three alleged bootlegging establishments were raided by prohibition enforcement agents over the week-end, according to reports made Tuesday to H. P. Wright, deputy prohibition administrator for this district.

The stills were captured near Griffin by Agent F. R. Patterson and Spaulding county officials. Approximately 600 gallons of beer were destroyed and five men arrested. Operators of a filling station and a barbeque stand, also near Griffin, were arrested, 18 pints of whisky seized, according to the report.
